

SHOOTING BY DRY AGENTS SOMETIMES IMPERATIVE

Vicious Bootleggers Show No Mercy and Must Be Met With Force, Says Mrs. Willebrandt

PROHIBITION OFFICIAL BLAMED

Assault.
False reports.
Threats.

Extortion.
Bribery.
Intimidation.

On these and other charges, 750 prohibition agents were dismissed before civil service requirements were put into effect, but the real trouble was higher up, according to Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former Assistant United States Attorney-General in charge of prohibition, who places the blame squarely where it belongs and shows the way a corrupt official can fool the government forces, in her first article, "Corruption in High Places," appearing in tomorrow's issue of the Times.

car which was crossing the border loaded with liquor. After making the arrest and putting handcuffs on one of the men who had been in the car, the other said, "Wait a minute till I light a cigarette." The driver waited a minute, but instead of lighting a cigarette, the man pulled a gun and shot Morris, who died almost instantly. The defendant then ran, and the surviving officer shot at him, missed. Subsequently captured and convicted, he was given only a prison term of from two to twenty years.

These bootleggers were the type ordinarily engaged in running liquor between Texas towns. Nothing in their appearance gave the agents warning. They were no better and no worse than thousands of other bootleggers who are operating daily in all parts of the country. And let it be remembered that the man who committed this act of violence was himself in no great danger from the law prior to the shooting of the surviving officer. He was subject to a penalty as most of only six months and a hundred dollars fine after conviction. Nevertheless, in an attempt to avoid facing that charge, he shot down and killed an officer of the law.

IN SELF-DEFENSE

The case cited is not at all unusual. On September 25, 1928, a prohibition agent named King stopped an automobile crossing a bridge at Jacksonville, Fla., and arrested a well-known bootlegger who was in charge of the local liquor. When the agent stepped on the running board of the car, the bootlegger pulled a gun and shot the agent. When the bootlegger was wounded, he was King nevertheless managed to draw his own gun and as the bootlegger started to drive away, a running battle continued. The bootlegger killed the prohibition agent. A disinterested workman on the bridge told the facts. While the agent lay at the point of death in the hospital, the State authorities, as the result of sensational and unwarranted press reports which inflamed the public mind, following the death of the man, ordered an investigation, and a grand jury indicted for murder against an officer who killed his life in the performance of his legal duty, and who had shot after being thrown in the road, wounded, and only in self-defense.

I might cite dozens of other similar cases, but I will call attention to only one more. It is the case of the United States of America vs. James H. Alderman, charged with and convicted of murder and sentenced to the Federal Prison at Leavenworth, Kan. The case was upheld by the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit, and the Supreme Court of the United States has refused to review the case.

THE FACTS REVEALED

On August 7, 1927, a United States Coast Guard patrol boat, on duty off the coast of Florida, stopped a small boat coming from the direction of Miami in the British West Indies and headed toward the Florida coast. On boarding the boat, the Coast Guard commander, Sidney C. Sanderlin, found one James H. Alderman in charge, with Robert C. Weech aboard, together with twenty sacks of liquor. Of the Coast Guard crew, only the Coast Guard was armed. He and Weech were taken aboard the boat and found none.

While the Coast Guard crew was transferring the liquor from the small boat to the Coast Guard, Sanderlin started toward the pilot house of the patrol boat where his wireless was located and Alderman fired a shot. A second later the Coast Guard crew heard shots and saw Alderman, an automatic in his hand, take a step or two from the pilot house deck and shoot at the wireless. The shot struck Sanderlin and he fell into the engine room. No one else was hurt. Sanderlin was found dead on the floor of the pilot house, killed by a bullet which entered the right side of his back, passing through the heart and coming out of the left breast. Sanderlin died four days later in a Florida hospital.

Alderman, the bootlegger, then lined up the remainder of the Coast Guard crew and menacing them with his revolver, said that he was the pilot and that the boat was his. He then directed the crew to take a step or two from the pilot house deck and set it afire. Alderman told the patrol crew that he was going to throw them overboard one at a time and shoot them, and that they might as well say their prayers, because they were all going to hell and they would need them.

Meanwhile, he had obtained two more revolvers from the pilot house and had given one to his associate, Weech, so that the gunners were covered by three guns. A few minutes later Alderman glanced down the hatch to see what Weech was doing with regard to the motor which he had ordered Weech to start. Taking advantage of his momentary inattention, the surviving members of the Coast Guard crew rushed toward Alderman and he began shooting. He succeeded in shooting one of them through the shoulder and head and in killing another. However, the others overcame him and later captured his associate, Weech.

VICTIM OF CRIMINAL

I have outlined the facts in this case to show what vicious criminals are in the bootlegging business, and the risk of his life an agent runs.

It is the officer's duty to make the arrest of the nearest magistrate for hearing. Resisting an officer is a serious offense. It has been such ever since governments were established. It has been the duty of all sworn officers of the law to bring in their prisoners "dead or alive." That has always, since the days of Blackstone been regarded as vital to the protection of society and the preservation of the state.

In dozens of cases, hundreds of men are arrested and discharged. In resisting, with force and with guns, officers of the law who have the legal right and the duty to make the arrest are discharging that duty lawfully. In no other class of cases has there been so much resistance to officers. Every day, in some part of the United States, men are arrested by State and Federal officers for burglary, robbery, arson, mail robbery and other crimes for which the penalties are much more severe than those imposed for bootlegging. Yet there is no such resistance to the officers as in bootlegging cases. Simply because the men arrested know that they will get no public or newspaper support if they attack or kill the officer of the law. But let resistance be made to a prohibition agent in the lawful performance of his duty, and was in 1918 and again in 1921 despite formidable opposition.

Berger was the Socialist party's first Representative in Congress during the World War. The publisher was attacked from every side for his opposition to America's entry into the war. He was charged with disloyalty, and he was charged with being a "pro-German" because of his participation in the war was not in the "pro-German" sense but that the country's action was against his principles.

He was expelled from the House of Representatives during the war and his constituents re-elected him to the House when the war was over. He was expelled from the House when the war was over. He was expelled from the House when the war was over.

HELFED START PARTY

"Before I knew it, I was a Socialist," he said in later years. "I did not join the party just at that time, but I helped to start one."

Berger was another example of the immigrant boy leaving his mark on his generation of Americans and achieving a place of influence in his adopted land. From the time that he came to this country, he was a Socialist. In 1900 he became a member of the Socialist party, and in 1901 he became a member of the Socialist party. He was a member of the Socialist party from 1901 to 1918.

LETTER RECEIVED

Among the evidences of this fact that early reached me was the letter from a judge known throughout the country as an upright, fearless, able jurist.

"There is intelligence ought to be used in selecting prohibition agents. The majority of them in my district are stupid, and on the witness stand, under cross-examination, they are nearly all of them stupid. I found that there were scores of prohibition agents no more fit to be trusted with a commission to enforce the laws of the United States, and to carry a gun than the notorious bandit, Jesse James."

WILLEBRANDT STORY
REFUTED BY BURKE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (AP)—James Francis Burke, general counsel of the Republican National Committee, today denied that during the Presidential campaign last year he "urged or suggested" that Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former Assistant Attorney-General in charge of prohibition, "discuss any man's religion or any religious subject."

Mr. Burke's denial was made in reply to statements of Mrs. Willebrandt in newspaper articles copyrighted by Current News Features.

"Ordinarily I pay no attention," Mr. Burke said, "to campaign canards, but in the interest of truth and all concerned I am compelled to deny that during the last Presidential campaign I ever urged or suggested that Mrs. Willebrandt discuss any man's religion or any religious subject, nor did I ever insert or attempt to insert any religious comment in any speech made or intended to make, nor was any manuscript of hers containing any attack on any man's religion or personal character or raising the religious issue ever submitted to or scrutinized by me, nor did any manuscript of her Springfield speech which came to headquarters contain any such expression as 'go back to your pulpits and preach this doctrine' or anything akin to it."

"It is needless to say that had Mrs. Willebrandt or any other person submitted to me a speech attacking my own religion I would have resented and repudiated it."

Mrs. Willebrandt declared in one of her articles that the day before her Springfield speech was delivered every word of it was carefully edited by Mr. Burke.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7. (AP)—With all clam beds on the shores of Marin and Sonoma counties under a strict quarantine ordered by Dr. Walter M. Dickie, director of the State Department of Public Health, indications today are that the five San Francisco residents who were stricken after eating toxic clams will recover. Four other persons have died within the last week after eating clams or mussels gathered off the Northern California coast.

While an outbreak of mussel poisoning occurred in July, 1927, this year is the first in which cases of clam poisoning have been observed by the State Board of Health, said Dr. Dickie today, in making public

The officers were sent to an East-Side grocery and arrested Mrs. Lena Schaller, 32 years of age, who was charged with stealing the orange. The deputy District Attorney questioned the woman and her husband, who was charged with the theft. She was unable to provide the $10 and was sent to jail.

Results of research work on causes of the poison.

Efforts to determine the exact cause of the poison, which in 1927 afflicted 103 persons and killed six, have not yet culminated in a definite diagnosis, Dickie said, but the research work done by the department during the last two years indicates the poison is a result of an organic change influenced by fluid and spawning conditions of the mussel.

ENGLISH YOUTHS SAVED DISGRACE

Young Offenders Sent to Borstal Schools

Potential Criminals Turned Into Craftsmen

Prisoners Taught Trade and Placed at Jobs

(With widespread crime perverted in the United States, it is of interest to see how England deals with crime and criminals. Accordingly an investigation of foreign prisons and penitentiaries has been made by The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance. The results are given in a series of dispatches of which this is the first.)

BY HENRIETTA W. BINGHAM
LONDON, Aug. 7. (Exclusive)—Probably the most interesting development in the English Penal Code the last fifty years is the Borstal System. There are now five Borstal institutions, one for girls, where offenders 16 to 21 years of age are sent for a period up to three years, instead of ordinary prisons for a short time.

The advantages are manifold. First, the young offender avoids the disgrace of a prison sentence, and all that entails. Moreover, during the three years, which can be shortened considerably, the boy or girl may learn a skilled trade and change the whole outlook on life.

PLACE LIKE SCHOOL.
The atmosphere at Borstal is more like that of a school. Each lad has his own room in the same house throughout his sentence. Each house is a unit, with its own dining and recreation hall, its football teams, etc., and it is supervised by a master and matron. The lads are encouraged to be industrious and obedient, not only for their promotion but for the privileges enjoyed by the whole house if the general standard is high.

The lads are classed as first, second and third-year boys, with privileges increasing each year. The third-year boys are the trustees and may go out of the grounds at will, while the other lads are allowed to go out only in parties.

Each lad has considerable freedom in choosing his trade and electing advanced classes. Carpentry, engineering, blacksmithing, farm work, cooking, etc., are taught. Stone-breaking is reserved for punishment.

RELEASED ON LICENSE
The lads do all manual and domestic labor, even cooking, but time is set aside for reading, study and sports. The influence of the officers and teachers, the spirit of comradeship and the industrious life are a strikingly successful cure for criminal tendencies.

The lads are first released on license. The Borstal Association finds work for them and maintains contact with each lad. If he reverts to bad habits his license may be revoked and he may be required to complete his sentence. However, the efforts of the Borstal Association combined with the Borstal treatment have reclaimed a large percentage of these potential criminals.

In conclusion, too much praise cannot be given the Voluntary Visitors' Society attached to each local and convict prison. The men and women on these committees are allowed to visit the prisons and talk with the prisoners individually.

In addition a visiting committee is appointed for every prison by the justices whose benches commit to the prison and this committee deals with the more serious offenders. It is an impartial body with right of inspection of the prison, and it can report directly to the Home Secretary.

PRISON FIGURES SPEAK
The voluntary nature of the work done by the visitors of the Voluntary Prison Visitors' Society so impresses some of the more hardened criminals that they become tractable and eager for improvement.

Moreover, the friendly interest taken by the visitors in the life and hopes of the prisoner reduces to a minimum the possibility that he will leave prison more vindictive and dangerous than when he entered.

The total number of prisoners in local prisons in England and Wales, including the Borstal institutions, in April of 1913 was 15,508. In April, 1929, the number was 8709. This decrease shows graphically the success of the British system.

Since the war twenty-five prisons have been closed in England and Wales.

Hundreds Sick at San Quentin

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Aug. 7. (AP)—Four hundred and eighty cases of illness among convicts at San Quentin prison were revealed today by Warden James B. Holohan, who said the epidemic had been prevalent for several days. The prison population is approximately 4,500, and laying off of nearly 500 prisoners from the workshops crippled prison routine for a time and strained hospital facilities.

Warden Holohan said a similar outbreak of dysentery, but a less serious one, occurred last year and the year before.

SNOOK REVEALS CO-ED'S THREATS

Slayer Tells Unruffled Story of Illicit Love Affair

Girl Induced Him to Take
Narcotics, He Says

Wife and Aged Mother Also Testify for Defendant

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 7. (AP)—Dr. James H. Snook followed his wife and his aged mother to the witness stand today in his trial for first-degree murder and related offenses. The jury and a curious crowd of spectators listened to the story of his illicit love affair with Miss Theresa Hix, Ohio State University co-ed, whom he killed last June. The former Ohio State veterinary professor occupied the stand most of the day under the curious gaze of the persons who had battled their way into the courtroom. At adjournment time the defendant's account of his relationship with Miss Hix and the quarrel that ended in the rifle range but he had laid the foundation for his plea of self-defense.

CO-ED QUARRELSOME

He testified that the co-ed to whom he referred very fully as "Miss Hix" had induced him to take cocaine narcotics with her and become quarrelsome and disagreeable on several occasions she threatened to shoot him, he testified. At other times she appeared to him as a few months before her death had become quarrelsome and disagreeable on several occasions she threatened to shoot him, he testified. At other times she appeared to him as a few months before her death had become quarrelsome and disagreeable on several occasions she threatened to shoot him, he testified.

WIFE PRESENT

As he entered the courtroom this morning, Mrs. Helen M. Snook, his wife and the mother of his 3-year-old baby girl, was seated at the defense counsel table, ready to testify in his behalf.

AMERICA WANTS SCOUTS IN 1935

Mortimer Schiff Extends Invitation for Meet

Baden-Powell Reads Hoover Message to Jamboree

President's Words Commend Boys for Fellowship

ARROW PARK (Eng.) Aug. 7. (AP)—An invitation for the next world jamboree for Boy Scouts to be held in America in 1935 was extended today by Mortimer Schiff, president of the fifth international conference. The date coincides with the world's fair to be held in Chicago. The invitation was referred to the international committee.

The veteran Chief Scout, Sir Robert Baden-Powell, at a private luncheon conferred the gift of a silver wolf on Dan Beard, famous American Scout leader, and Mr. Schiff.

At the opening of the international conference, Baden-Powell read a message from President Hoover, brought to England by Schiff.

President Hoover is honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America. His message said: "In the world celebration of the twenty-one years of scouting, the coming of age of this great movement, I hope that you will express on my behalf the appreciation the whole of America has for this significant contribution to the development of our youth. The assembling of 50,000 young men and boys from seventy different races and nationalities in good fellowship without competition and the good discipline which makes this possible are in themselves without precedent and constitute, I trust, an augury for the development of common ideals and friendship among nations."

FRIEND OF SLICKERS GETS SUITCASE FULL OF GRIEF

BRUSSELS, Aug. 7. (Reuter)—The ever so slightly changed version of the old rosy game rid Adolph Schnabel of Oakland, Cal., of $500. He was staying at a smart downtown hotel where he met an Australian named Patterson. The two newly made buddies then met an American, Patrick O'Neil, who had trouble speaking French. They helped him with his interpreting and got clubby in the process. Mr. O'Neil said he was wealthy and was sending a little matter of $50,000 to various charities in the United States, but as he distrusted banks he proposed sending the money, stashed in a suitcase, with Mr. Schnabel. The latter agreed, having seen the suitcase with his own eyes and the bank notes sticking out of all edges. He then gladly handed over $500 of his own real money as a guarantee of his own honesty.

The two friends absconded themselves for a "moment" and when they failed to return Mr. Schnabel peered anxiously into the suitcase, which apparently was the wrong one as it contained only newspapers. The police showed him an album full of mugs from which he promptly picked out the two friends, Daniel Gleason and James Ford, Australians, and international specialists in the rosy game who long have been sought in vain by the police.

INDIAN MEDICAL NEED REPORTED

Wheeler Pleads for Clinics to Check Tuberculosis

Montana Senator Advocates Reservation Hospital

He Declares Reclamation Projects Failures

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (AP)—The urgent need of medical attention to curb the spread of tuberculosis on the Indian reservations of the Northwest was reported today by Senator Wheeler of Montana. Senator Wheeler, a member of the Senate Committee Investigating Indian Affairs, returned to the capital today after a trip through the Indian area.

The establishment by the Indian Bureau of adequate hospital facilities to handle properly the tuberculosis cases is advocated by the Senator. One of every four Indians is afflicted with the disease, Senator Wheeler said.

CLINICS URGED
"Clinics should be established on all reservations to make a systematic study of the number of Indians affected by tuberculosis, trachoma and venereal diseases," the Senator said.

A thorough investigation by the Commissioner-General of an accounting system for Indians and the abolition of the ration system are advocated by the Senator.

PROJECTS FAILURES
Senator Wheeler asserted that reclamation projects on practically all reservations have been financial failures due to lack of proper planning by Congress and by colonial engineering errors.

Replacement of the worn-out political superintendent by men who will conduct the Indian affairs in scientific and business-like manner is advocated.

Conference on Aviation Radio Channels Held

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (AP)—Representatives of Army, Navy and commercial aviation and the Federal Radio Commission today formulated a working agreement on the allocation of radio channels for the use of flyers.

The plan, which has been determined upon as a tentative operative arrangement for the present, was considered a basis for the future allocations of radio frequencies for aviation by the commission. Among the witnesses to appear before the commission was Herbert Hoover, Jr., who represented Western Air Express.

Under the agreement the radio compass to guide aviators in flight will operate uniformly on a frequency of 375 kilocycles. Upon arrival at airports or landing fields, planes will be directed by radio on the 275-kilocycle frequency. The international distress signal of aircraft will be 500 kilocycles, the same frequency as now used by ships.

Arizona Wind Unroots Houses

CHILA BEND (Ariz.) Aug. 7. (AP)—High wind and heavy rain swept through the business section of Chila Bend tonight, unrooting several buildings and unroofing trees.

A small house in the yard of the emergency hospital was demolished. No injuries were reported.

HOOVER TO GIVE CAMP TO OTHERS

President's Blue Ridge Preserve Dedicated to Use of Nation's Chiefs

FRONT ROYAL (Va.) Aug. 7. (AP)—President Hoover in a letter to William E. Carson, chairman of the Virginia Conservation Commission, has announced that he desires that his present camp on the Rapidan River in the Blue Ridge Mountains "be put in permanent form for use of my successors" and that the camp ultimately be made a part of the Shenandoah National Park.

The President wrote the letter after Mr. Carson had sent him the deed to the 164 acres of camp land purchased personally by the President.

COOLIDGE AND AL SMITH HAVE LUNCH TOGETHER

NEW YORK, Aug. 7. (AP)—The New York Herald-Tribune tomorrow will say it has learned from President Coolidge, former Gov. Smith and Julius Rosenwald, Chicago philanthropist, had lunch together here last week.

Much care was taken to assure the privacy of the luncheon party and none of the participants revealed what took place.

The fact that Mr. Rosenwald was present gave rise to a report he had called upon the former President and the former Governor to advise him in the allocation of part of the Julius Rosenwald Fund, a $20,000,000 philanthropic project.

Mr. Rosenwald himself is quoted as saying the conference had to do with a charity in New York.

YOUTH LOSES VALIANT FIGHT WITH INJURIES

MARICOPA, Aug. 7.—At 3 a.m. today death finally claimed Bowers Daniel Shipman, 7 years of age, who had been making a supreme effort to live through 24 hours of unconsciousness resulting from a crash in the Kern River Park Highway the night of July 21, last.

He was injured when the car in which he was a passenger collided with another machine. His head struck the back of the front seat, crushing his skull. He died without regaining consciousness.

The boy leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Shipman; three sisters, Ruby, Lily and Edna; two brothers, Darrel and Lloyd, all of whom live here; also his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Shipman, at Bakersfield.

ALHAMBRA MAN KILLED IN CRASH

KANSAS CITY (Kan.) Aug. 7. (AP)—A man identified as John E. Martin of Alhambra, Cal., was killed here today when his automobile was struck by an ice truck.

Identification was by a letter in the victim's pocket. Leo Drexler, 37 years of age, driver of the truck, said he was driving about forty miles an hour when Martin suddenly turned his car in the middle of the block.

TULARE COUNTY SUES SUN-MAID

VISALIA, Aug. 7.—Tulare county seeks to collect $6481.30 from the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers of California in a complaint filed in Superior Court here, this sum being asked as taxes on property owned by the raisin association. The property mentioned is 10,587 tons of raisins stored in warehouses in this county and valued at $106,880. The raisins were assessed by County Assessor George Prestigida. There are 117 tons stored in a warehouse at Cutler and 9018 tons in Dinwiddie warehouse, according to the complaint.

Build Stronger, Better Walls with MONOLITH WATERPROOF PORTLAND CEMENT

"For permanently waterproof stucco or plaster walls, no finer cement can be purchased than Monolith Waterproof Portland Cement." That statement has been made again and again by builders with years of experience in construction work.

These builders point with pride to stucco finishes on buildings they erected five and six years ago, that stand today without a blemish or a crack.

The amazing increase in the number of stucco buildings everywhere in Southern California has come since Monolith was first introduced ten years ago. Because of its unquestioned ability to impart greater strength and absolute waterproofness to plaster walls, Monolith has been a determining factor in popularizing this type of construction.

It is the original waterproof Portland cement, and has enjoyed a continuously increasing sale for this work.

The walls of your home represent only about one-eighth of the total construction cost. Yet they are the biggest factor in creating a favorable impression, and influencing the sale value of your property.

If you are considering building a home, write us for information on how to build walls that are permanent, waterproof and most economical. You'll make no mistake by insuring on Monolith Waterproof Portland Cement. It makes for true building economy.

SANTA BARBARA Aug. 7.—When the deep-throated bells of Old Mission are rung at twilight on Wednesday, next, by the Franciscan padre, Santa Barbara's annual Old Spanish festival will begin in the manner of the Spanish dance of by-gone years. From the first note of the bell, the city will throng early on Saturday night, the 17th inst., this city will throw aside its modern dress and revel in the world's picture of old romance in a spectacle of historic pageantry.

The festival will last through the week-end. The streets of Santa Barbara, flanked by the red-tiled roofs of the mission buildings, will be transformed into a colorful episode, will depict the history of the Channel City from the time of its founding in 1683 to the present day.

Of particular interest this year will be the parade which takes place today celebrating the arrival of Santa Barbara's first passenger train just over a century ago. It was the Southern Pacific Railroad which ing of Old 24," a wood-burning locomotive of the time, and passenger coaches similar to those it used to haul. Passengers on the train and greeters at the station will be dressed in costumes of the period, as well as the Scouts' Band, which will blast forth a welcome just as it did on the memorable occasion of 1891. Even the engineers will be provided with uniforms. The train conductor, who will run the train, is a pioneer, still in Southern Pacific service. They both ran on the line at the time and are to this day running trains through Santa Barbara.

FOR GREATER SERVICE TO A GREATER NUMBER

THE FORD MOTOR COMPANY was formed, and exists today, not merely to make automobiles but to bring the benefits of quick, efficient transportation within reach of every one.

Because of this larger purpose, and in furtherance of it, the policy of the Ford Motor Company has always been to keep the price as low as possible—so that more and more people, in all walks of life, might reach of everyone.

Consistently through the years the savings resulting from new manufacturing methods and new production economies have been passed on in increased value and lower prices to those who buy the car, and in higher wages to those who make it. In 1909 and 1910, for example, the Ford car sold for $950. Today, with all its improvements and new beauty of line and color, the price of the Ford car, taking the average of the various body types, is but little more than half of that.

In a very real and definite way, the public has always been considered a partner in the Ford Industries. We never forget that the people who have made this business a big business are the people who buy the products we manufacture and offer for sale. Often we have reduced prices to a point where no profit was visible and then forced ourselves to find ways and means of reducing cost in order to earn a profit.

SINCE this policy is fundamental to the Ford organization, it applies also to those other means of transportation which have been developed to meet a present need or an anticipated future. In this spirit of service, the manufacture of airplanes was started some years ago and carried forward as a contribution to the public and to the nation. Costs decreased as production increased, and a little while ago it was possible to reduce the price of the Ford all-metal airplane as much as $10,000. Thus the way was opened for a further development and extension of the pioneering air lines of this country.

Today it is possible to announce a further expression of this basic Ford policy in a series of important reductions in the price of the Lincoln motor car.

IN taking over the Lincoln Motor Company some years ago, it was our purpose to build a car of surpassing beauty and performance—a car that might in truth be called “as nearly perfect a motor car as it is possible to produce.”

For some time it was impossible to make a car to meet these specifications at the price previously asked, and the price was raised, therefore, to compensate for the increased value built into the car.

Sales increased as the public grew to know and understand this value, and with increased production came again the opportunity to effect substantial savings in cost. In accordance with the fundamental Ford policy, the benefits of these savings are now passed on to the purchaser.

THESE price reductions, ranging as high as $650, are on established Lincoln body types and are not in anticipation of a change in model. It has been the Lincoln policy over a period of years to refrain from annual model changes or sharp deviations in design, believing that the interest of the purchaser might best be served in this way.

Improvements in the car are made progressively as these improvements are worked out in the engineering laboratory and fully tested in actual practice. New bodies by the foremost custom body designers are added whenever the designs submitted are considered of sufficient worth and character to warrant their approval and adoption for a car of this type. Because of this policy, the new bodies flow naturally into the line and are not identified in the public's mind with any particular time or season, protecting the owner against periodic depreciation.

THUS has come that reputation for stability of performance, of body lines, of investment, which is so important a part of the purchase of the Lincoln. Seeing it gliding along the avenue or standing at rest before some honored door, you sense a sincerity of design and construction which sets it apart, a little, in your mind and causes you to remember and recall its image long after the more immediate concerns of the day are disposed of and forgotten. It is hoped, through reductions such as those announced here, to extend the circle of those whose income permits the ownership of such a car.

A PRODUCT is no better than its parentage. Fourteen years of Rio Grande Oil Company is now history.... fourteen years of producing, refining and marketing petroleum products... fourteen years under one management with one dominant policy... each quart of oil, each gallon of gasoline meeting rigid operating specifications... not a price.

This was not altruism. This was good business. By it Rio Grande survived... grew. By it Rio Grande will continue to grow. Each year sees more motors powered and lubricated with Rio Grande products. . . . .

You may, for instance, have asked yourself, "Is there a difference in Gasoline?" Rio Grande, with that assurance born of experience, answers emphatically, "There is!"

Even years before the advent of high compression motors, Rio Grande Gasoline was rich in anti-knock qualities. Today, as always, you can buy Rio Grande Anti-Knock Gasoline without premium... your pocketbook pays no penalty for your wisdom.

We may not be able to prove in words what your motor will quickly prove in performance. Give your motor that chance by keeping it filled with Rio Grande BLUE* Anti-Knock Gasoline... the superior "balanced" motor fuel.

You will like Rio Grande because it gives you every essential of a modern gasoline... yet it costs you no more.

Wheat Rallies Suddenly With Renewed Buying

CHICAGO, Aug. 7. (AP)—Indications that farmers' haste to rush wheat to market is abating, and that exporters are buying more freely, helped turn wheat values suddenly upward today. Unchecked, the relative strength of wheat prices in Europe attracted widespread notice, and there was some anxiety concerning the crop outlook south of the equator.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, 3 to 4 1/2 cents higher than yesterday's. Corn closed 2 to 3 1/2 cents up, oats, 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents advanced, and provisions varying from 40c decline to a rise of 2 1/2 cents.

From the very beginning, the wheat trade here was heavily alive today to word that the Liverpool market had failed to the active weakness shown yesterday by American and Canadian prices. Liverpool closed the quotations today were at only 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents decline, notwithstanding that based on action of the Chicago market, the Liverpool market was due for 5 to 7 1/2 cents gain. Moreover, European buyers of United States wheat to be shipped to Europe saw evidence of heavy buying and a sharp advance in the price of wheat in London.

Irregular Price Fluctuations Mark Stock Trading While Market Continues Active

With the utilities reacting, oil holding firm and industrial and miscellaneous issues showing mixed losses and gains, a spotty condition was presented by the price list at the close of yesterday's trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. While losses exceeded gains generally the market developed no particular trend and price changes on the whole were not large. On the other hand the market activity indicated that interest is keyed to a high pitch.

Security-First National Bank closed at 122. Oil shares were practically undisturbed although trading in Union was brisk.

Douglas Aircraft continued a leader in the activity on market rumors and reports of new contracts pending, but late selling exceeded the demand with the result that the issue dropped off 1/4 to 53. Emerson continued its rally and added 2 1/2 points to finish at 32. Monolith, Jantzen Knitting Mills, Pacific Clay Products and Republic Supply were strong and improved on the day.

Sales totaled 21,676 shares, valued at $911,559; previous day, 21,598 shares, valued at $880,543.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Irregular price tendencies marked yesterday's trading on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange as the volume of dealings slipped back to the quiet levels that have prevailed on most of the seasons this summer. Chapman's Ice Cream, however, continued a strong spot and again attracted attention with rapid sales and an advance of 1 point to 10 1/2, another new high at 30 1/2.

Klinter Airplane and Motor was a brisk leader in the trading with the warrants about equally active. Both improved fractionally, the warrants advancing 1 1/2 cents to a new high at 14 1/2 and closing later at 12 1/4, up 2 1/2 cents net. The warrants sell for cash, tomorrow and must be delivered for stock not later than Saturday.

Cladding McLean yielded a point to 32 and Electrical Products of Washington, Aviation Corporation and Pacific Associates turned fractionally softer on light sales. Pacific Indemnity gained a point to 25 1/2 while Pacific Mutual yielded 3/4 to 11 1/2.

Sales totaled 197,298 shares valued at $614,832; previous day, 165,304 shares valued at $573,230.

American Utilities & General Corp.

Class "B" Stock Bought-Sold Quoted

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

News received here yesterday that new petroleum fields have been discovered in Cochabamba, central Bolivia, not far from the city of Cochabamba, and only about twenty hours' ride from the Pacific Coast. This discovery is thought to be of considerable importance on account of its location being near the main mineral districts of the southern republic.

The Los Angeles representative for Bolivia, Hon. Waldo E. Althoff, has received many expressions of congratulations on the occasion of the anniversary of the independence day of his country, the 8th inst., because of the new petroleum discovery there.

It is the second in producing country of the world and one of the most resourceful republics of South America. Oil is said to be abundant in Cochabamba, and the new discovery makes Bolivia a big prospective oil resource for the future.

Out of Control

The General Petroleum Corporation's No. 1 well, about 3000 feet deep, is said to be out of control and blowing up water gas per day. According to field reports the gas is being taken out about one-third of a gallon of gasoline per 1000 cubic feet of gas.

There will be a slight showing of oil, it is said. Bottom of the hole is at 3000 feet. Shows are being taken to fill the well and it is expected it will be redrilled part of the way in an effort to straighten it. A survey was made just before it blew in, and it appears to be somewhat crooked.

Visitors on American Tour Pause Here

They See Wonders of Southland
B. Von Kleinsmid. Right—Hatsuyo Murata and Yoshieko Murata.

THE University of Southern California was host yesterday afternoon to a party of foreign students who toured the Trojan campus after being guests of the local institution at luncheon, with President Von Kleinsmid as their personal host.

Ranging from 15 to 33 years of age, the group included two pairs of sisters and brothers, Hikokoda Sugimoto and his sister Miss Shinako Sugimoto and Yoshieko Murata and his sister, Miss Hatsuyo Murata.

The party is in charge of Hon. Kaji Nakamura of Tokyo. They left Tokyo on September 21. Their itinerary includes, besides Los Angeles, Honolulu, San Francisco, Phoenix, Globe, El Paso, San Antonio, New Orleans, Atlanta, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, New Bedford, Boston, Buffalo, Chicago, Winnipeg, Jasper, Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle, from where they will sail on their return voyage.

The group constitutes the fourth student tour abroad under the leadership of Kaji Nakamura and Yasuhiko Enomoto, and the personnel of the party includes Yasuhiko Enomoto, Shunichi Tanaka, Takemasa Ogata, Yoji Iwata, Chojiro Minano, Seiichi Minahara, Takao Hamada, Bai Kai, Bai, Yuki, Iwaki, Asahi Uyama, Bungo Nakanishi, Seiichi Toshioka, Jiro Kadowaki and the brothers and sisters named above.

Old Penny Game
Laid to Slickers

"You can take the boy out of the country, but you can't take the country out of the boy!"

Thus commented police yesterday when William F. Wehrly, 23-year-old visitor to Los Angeles, asked their help in finding two "city slickers" who, according to his report, relieved him of $20 through the magic of a penny in a clenched fist.

William said he scraped an acquaintance with a "likeable fellow" outside the Young Men's Christian Association yesterday, and they were chatting when a confederate appeared and suggested a game of "heads or tails." While William held the penny the two bet with each other. When the first had won $20 the second urged William to lend the second the money with which to pay it. William complied. Then one said something about "cops" and both disappeared, telling William they'd see him later.

William failed to keep their appointment. William told police that now he's a sadder but wiser boy.

ASPIRIN

DECISION DUE
ON HOLLAND
CASE TODAY

Dist. Atty. Fitts to Base
Conclusion on Findings of Special Investigators

Definite decision as to whether or not Mrs. Thelma Holland, once convicted of possession of a still and then given a new trial, shall be prosecuted a second time, will be made by Dist. Atty. Fitts today, it was indicated yesterday.

Mrs. Holland's husband at the time of their first trial took full blame for the still and is now in Polson prison. The woman, according to physicians, is an expectant mother and through her attorney, Moses Davis, seeks to avoid commitment to State prison while in this condition.

James Davis, District Attorney's investigator, has been dispatched to Polson prison to interview Charles Holland for further information on the case and physicians have been called in to examine Mrs. Holland again to establish her condition definitely before a final decision is reached regarding her prosecution, it was learned.

Meanwhile, Dist. Atty. Fitts is examining the transcript of Mrs. Holland's trial, probation reports and all possible phases of the case before reaching a definite conclusion regarding the case.

Piping Down
Her Visitors
Annoys Wife

Charles Swanson, retired 72-year-old sea captain, brought his nautical routine ashore, his wife, Ethelyn Adelaide Swanson, declares in her divorce complaint, filed yesterday.

No sooner had Mrs. Swanson's guests begun enjoying themselves over tea and cakes one evening when Swanson stuck his head in the door, she asserts.

"Four bells of the first night watch," Capt. Swanson, "rang out in his best seagoing style. 'Time to go home, I suppose,' a landlubber would say it was 10 o'clock."

Swanson was of a suspicious nature, his wife said, and accused her of showing too much attention to her chauffeur.

FUNDS FOR AUTOS ASKED
The Board of Public Works yesterday asked the Council to set aside funds for the purchase of nine new automobiles to replace old ones assigned to the division of surveys. This was referred to the Finance Committee.

Stage and screen stars of Broadway and Hollywood associated in a gay and brilliant charity program at Hollywood Bowl last night in the Hollywood Midsummer Jubilee benefit performance for the Los Angeles Sanatorium, a free tuberculosis institution at Duarte. Estimates placed the attendance at more than 18,000 people.

Patient Runs
Amuck and Dies

After running amuck in the Beulah Allen Hospital, 928 South Arizona street, Belvedere, early yesterday morning, D. W. Shanks, 48 years of age, asserted to be suffering from insanity, finally was subdued by Deputy Sheriff Maugen and Dealey and transported to the General Hospital, where he died later, according to reports on file at the Sheriff's office.

Investigating officers reported that Shanks fought arrest with superhuman strength and the efforts of five men were required to subdue him when placed in the psychiatric ward of the General Hospital for observation.

SALVATION ARMY MAN
TO ADDRESS MEETING

Col. John Clark, representing the international headquarters of the Salvation Army in London, will address a mass meeting Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the Salvation Army chapel, 126 East Fourth street. His last visit here was made in 1923. Commissioner Adam Clifford, western territorial commander of the Salvation Army, will be chairman of the meeting, and a musical program will be given by the Citadel Silver Band under direction of Adjt. Ernest Higgins. Brigadier James C. Bell, Los Angeles chief, has invited the public.

FUNERAL CONDUCTED FOR MRS. RHODA HUG

Funeral services were conducted yesterday at 2:30 p.m. for Mrs. Rhoda Hug, secretary of the Unity Assembly Church, 233 South Broadway, at the L. F. Utter funeral chapel, 4254 South Broadway. Burial was in Inglewood Park cemetery. Mrs. Hug was identified with the activities of the Unity Church for many years. She died last Sunday at the Hollywood Hospital after a short illness. She leaves her husband, A. F. Hug, 186 West Fifty-eighth street, and a daughter, Mrs. R. L. Ingle.

Bad laws, if they exist, should be repealed as soon as possible; still, while they continue in force, for the sake of example they should be religiously observed.

Today's Bible Text

For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God: Being justified freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus. Romans 11:34-35.

THERE'S A LIMIT

It would be tragic if the synopses had to answer for all their sins.

SEEK STUFF

The noblest study of mankind may be man, but there's more fun in looking at the girls.

READY TO FIGHT

Maxim Gorky, former pacifist, is now reported as saying that he is ready to fight as a common soldier in defense of the Soviet Union.

THE BIG HIT

At the Yankee Stadium the other day Babe Ruth whalloped a baseball a distance of 447 feet from the plate before it hit the first time. It is claimed that the longest hit prior to this mark was the 418 made by Ed Walsh in 1912. It was at least a powerful swipe and proves that most of the Bambino's home runs are earned.

JUDGMENT OF PARIS

Once more the leading fashion designer of Paris is producing evening gowns in which the skirt actually trails on the floor. Maybe the idea is to have our loved ones go barefooted. The gowns are also mentioned as being high in the collar and bare in the back. How do they do it? Sounds like hitching up a skirt. If this French artist can back out a uniform as is described by the dispatches we will give him some desirable telephone numbers.

WASTED MOTION

While they are nationalizing themselves the Chinese are reported as also urging a standardization of foreign missions. They have heard something about the efforts of the Christian church to get together here and they think the different denominations might easily pool their forces in China. There have been some jealousies and rivalries among missionaries in times past and sometimes a convert to one creed has not been recognized by the representatives of another faith. This has been a bit puzzling to the Chinese. The Chinese brother may be dumb, but he sometimes thinks the American missionaries are wasting ammunition. Under the new dispensation the missionary is more of a doctor than a theologian and he looks after the minds and bodies even before working on the souls.

TREES AND TRAVEL

Many localities are setting out trees along the highways as a consistent policy. Some of the roads of California are vistas of romance because the old-timers had thoughtfulness enough to line the thoroughfares with what are now noble growths.

In Northern California elms and maples frequently shade the ways of travel and remind the motorist of the Eastern States. The comfort as well as the natural beauty of the country is enhanced.

Planting trees is a worthy enterprise. But retaining existing forests, particularly the priceless redwoods in the High Sierra districts and through Humboldt county, is of even greater importance.

Gov. Patterson of Oregon in a recent address at Hood River urged such a policy for his State. Much of Oregon is yet unpopulated.

Washington is one of the most effective warnings against the ruthless ravages of the saw and the Pacific Highway from south to north is lined with the ragged stumps of a glory that was. As far as the eye can see, the land is a graveyard of trees with tall half-burned markers.

Doubtless many lumber companies and private owners are sympathetic with saving the redwoods in California. They are lovers of nature and would see these ancient monarchs rescued. But they have their interests vested in these lands.

Except for a small patch in southwestern Oregon, California has the only redwoods on the globe. They are remnants of an ancient age and are worthy of a better fate than being cut into grade stakes.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
 Today the California Development Association becomes in name as well as in fact the California State Chamber of Commerce, Agriculture and Industry. There will be no accompanying change in policy on the part of this great organization. It will continue, as for the past eight years, to work for the betterment of all California, economically and socially, to promote all legitimate industry and commerce of whatever nature, to aid in preserving the natural beauties of the State and to improve living conditions in general.

At the time when the California Development Association was formed there was no State organization to consider the interests of the whole commonwealth and Northern and Southern California were rapidly drifting apart. The association undertook as its early work the unification of the State and so far has it been successful that the sentiment for separation has not only stopped growing, but is rapidly disappearing. It discovered common ground on which all the various regional civic bodies could meet and co-ordinate their efforts, each helping with the local problems of the other. Now, thanks largely to its efforts, the various California communities consider themselves as partners in a joint enterprise.

The change of name has been contemplated for some time. The association has always functioned as a State Chamber of Commerce, using commerce in its broadest sense, and the use of a different terminology here from the usage of other States was found to be confusing. But so there should be no mistake as to the all-inclusive purpose of the organization, it was deemed advisable to add the words, "agriculture and industry." There is no change of function now of officers and directors. The directors consist of twenty-six men drawn from all parts of the State, who are recognized as business, agricultural and industrial leaders and representatives. There are six regional advisory councils, located in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Fresno, Stockton, Sacramento and Santa Rosa, their activities linked together by the general organization.

The association resulted in the absorption, during its growth, of a dozen different civic organizations, regional or State-wide in scope, but none of them with the broad program of the California Development Association and none with the influence toward mutual helpfulness and understanding which this association has produced. There is no part of the State that has not benefited from the operations of this body, no part that has not found it helpful or which would willingly give it up.

Under its new name, the State Chamber of Commerce, Agriculture and Industry will go on expanding in service and practical, concrete usefulness to all of California.

PRISON SYSTEM CONTRASTED
 There is a paragraph in the first of Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt's illuminating articles on prohibition enforcement that is provocative of thought and should serve as a text for the preachers of penological reform in this country.

I know from actual acquaintance with the conditions inside the penal institutions that they are much more often the breeding places of crime than places for the protection of society and the reformation and redemption of men and women who have preyed upon and been a menace to society.

By a singular coincidence Mrs. Willebrandt's instance upon these well-known facts appears in the same issue of The Times in which there is an article by a London correspondent telling of the treatment of various classes of criminals in British penal institutions. This article explains why there is no crime wave in Britain.

Instead of permitting young or new offenders to associate with old jailbirds, as is often done in our prisons, when England sends to prison a man or woman new to crime it sees to it that he goes to a place where there are special facilities for dealing with criminals of his class. Even while awaiting trial, arrangements are such that there is no possibility of his consorting with criminals who might influence him or blackmail him afterward.

In London prisons care is taken to keep first offenders separate from others. In many cases they are confined in jails in which no other classes of criminals are held. Women prisoners are kept in Boroal institutions or in separate convict prisons, according to age or gravity of offense. No matter in what group the malefactor is classified, every effort is made to reclaim him as well as to keep him from contaminating other prisoners.

America has many systems and institutions superior to those of Britain, but in the matter of penology, especially the preventive and reform branches of it, we must admit that we might learn much from the manner in which malefactors are handled over there. It is plain to be seen that if there is to be no improvement of the conditions so strongly stated by Mrs. Willebrandt there will be no subsidence of the present crime wave.

THE YOUNG IDEA
 American delegates to the World Educational Conference shocked some of the representatives of other lands by suggesting that students and pupils have a voice in the control and direction of the public schools. In the Old World they cannot imagine anything but rigid discipline in the schools. To consult the pupils as to their wishes or desires is unthinkable. It will take the universe a long time to get around to the American viewpoint and in the meantime it is up to the young Americans to prove that we are right in giving them a little power of their own.

WORLD'S PLAYGROUND
 California is being established as the world's playground in connection with both summer and winter sports and pastimes. All seasons are play time in this favored land, but let no man think for a moment that nobody works. The regular citizen works like a beaver for about fifty weeks in the year in order that he may have, hold and enjoy the two weeks of idleness he calls his vacation.

THE LEE SIDE O' LA

BY Lee Shippey

FOLLOWING our bent for interviewing all the really famous of the Southland, we were on hand when the new endurance-flight champions landed. One looked just like Rip Van Winkle and the other like Methuselah. All they needed was shorts and sandals and staves to look as rammy as Laurel Canyon hermits.

"My word!" exclaimed Methuselah. "Is this Los Angeles? How the city has changed since we went up!"

"Well, you know," said Rip, in a high, querulous voice, "it's been a long time. I hope the installment collectors aren't dead by now. Has anybody seen my wife?"

"Oh, she disappeared with a handsome man as soon as the publicity about wives began to run out. But not till after she'd got a divorce in regular form, of course. They're living over in that new addition to the city that's used to be Ventura and I believe they have three children now."

"Didn't I tell you?" shouted Rip, generally, to his comrades. "I knew we only had to stay up long enough to get results." Then, turning to the crowd, he explained, "You have to talk a bit long to make Bill hear. He grew sort of deaf several months ago. Couldn't stand so much high living."

He had intended to ask what people reason could induce a pair of men to stay aloft so long, but the question was unnecessary. We had it from the wives and other collectors. So we were content to let them go along to the nearest barber shop—as we happened to have a grudge against that barber—after asking one more question:

Real Winners of Endurance Medal

"How many more endurance-flight contests is the public going to have to endure?"

"No more than it is foolish enough to take an interest in," replied Methuselah, who had been aloft so long that he had arrived at years of extreme wisdom.

"Now that the interest has been proved or demonstrated, that's the only thing left to discover—how great is the endurance of the public? So far, it has made a wonderful record and really ought to be given a medal."

Old Facts About Our Town

The Los Angeles City Hall and the Los Angeles County Courthouse have larger telephone systems than have most of our sister towns. Ten hundred and twenty phones are connected with the City Hall exchange.

THE WIND BLOWS

According to the Weather Bureau records the State of Kansas has averaged one tornado a month for the last twelve years, but as the usual cyclone rips up only ten or twenty square miles of territory there is a goodly portion of the Sunflower State still unvisited.

MODERN MERCHANDISING

By James J. Montague

Where is the peddler who used to come round with stuff that is now out of date, Japanese fans and Japanese fans?

You will find him far out on the rural highway. He is put to no trouble at all. He merely stocks up an old farm house today and waits till the purchasers call.

Where is the farmer who drove through the streets with his old-fashioned wagon piled high with acallons and beans and tomatoes and greens?

Which he sold to whoever would buy? He piles up his garden truck outside his gate.

For though he's still husky and strong Why drive into town when he only need wait till the townspeople motor along?

However far scattered the husbandmen are Their quaint rustic wares are displayed Before their abodes on the elm-shaded roads

While they wait for the motorist trade. They purvey all the spoil of the sweet earthy soil.

Such as sundries and strawberry ice. And each couple of weeks stock up fresh on antiques

Which they buy at the factory price. At what of the poor retail dealers at home?

Are they bitter and loud in their wail? Do they moan that the way things are going today

They never can make a good sale? They have simply adjusted themselves to the times

And have little cause for alarm. When their stuff gets so old that it cannot be sold

They just send it out to the farm. (Copyright, 1929, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

THE ADVERTISING AGE

Philadelphia, like New York, will have a squad of secret police to explore the underworld. And in this age of publicity neither city is prepared to resist the temptation to tell the denizens of the underworld all about

More Support Needed
 REBEKAH July 31.—(To the Editor of The Times): Since reading Mr. McGraw's article on the fruit fly and other pests I believe it ought to be a pest to everyone and some plan devised to overcome the threatened menace. I have read with interest several suggestions, but I do not believe they have "hit the nail on the head" for the reason that the great majority of the people who have to contend with the various kinds of pests are people of limited means and small property owners.

For instance, my daughter and I settled on an acre hoping to make a living with chickens, and by raising our own garden, but we had such a fight with the many kinds of bugs and worms and insects that it cost us more to raise them than to buy all the vegetables, so we were forced to give it up, to our regret.

I believe if clubs were formed and the government or the State would furnish all materials at cost, also the sprayers and traps, and the formulas and directions for mixing them, so we could get them at a minimum cost, and the people who have the right to make money largely control the situation in a short time as soon as they realized they were not making the fight alone.

Cry From Macedonia

EL MONTE, Aug. 2.—(To the Editor of The Times): We have heard much about the Macedonia and how Florida is suffering. Do you not think everybody who can give $1 or more to those farmers whose crops were destroyed to help pay their taxes so they can save their homes, it would be a Christian act?

It is for us as well as for themselves, they are losing all they have. I feel like saying, let's go over to Macedonia and help them.

MRS. T. S.

Frederick Cals to Mockers

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—(To the Editor of The Times): As per your article in last Sunday's Times, located on the editorial page on "Cals and Mocking Birds."

You say you are patriotically on the side of the home-grown American mocking bird. Well, as far as that goes, I guess we all are to a certain extent, or we wouldn't be Californians.

As far as I am concerned, I would just as soon have a foreigner as a home-grown one, so-called song which you so brilliantly describe, when I am trying to get enough sleep ahead to give me enough energy to carry me through my next day.

At this particular time I would just as soon have one of your so-called Males or Females with pink ribbons around their necks, as I am quite sure they could not make any more noise than the birds of your choice.

DECISION

OLYMPIAN CHEERS

BY EUGENE BROWN

It is either a little early or a bit late for petitions and resolutions insisting that none of the Olympic Games—when they are finally pulled off in Los Angeles—be held on Sundays.

It is a little early in the sense that the games are not due here until 1932 and a bit late in that the reports are run off under a formula almost as old as history itself.

There is nothing much to be done about it save to raise an occasional cheer.

Without being sure whether the great games of the Coliseum will be open on Sunday or not it was inevitable that there would be protests. If the exercises are opened with prayer and closed with the benediction—as, indeed, they may—there will still be objections.

But there is no harm in offering assurance that there is absolutely nothing in the conduct of the world's Olympic Games which is unwholesome or unchristian. The pick of the strong men, the active men, the physically perfect men of the earth assemble in Los Angeles. They come not as foemen with minds bent on the shedding of blood. They are couriers of peace and amity—spokes of better understanding and cleanest sportsmanship.

There may be fouls and fouls and fouls will be here to participate in the games. Save for the vital rules of the game we should not unnecessarily hamper them with don'ts and mustn'ts.

BYRON CRUEL TO HIS WIFE

A daughter was born on Sunday, December 10, 1915, amid the ringing of furniture and soda-water bottles in the room immediately below by the expectant father. This might be looked upon as Byron's way of relieving the agitation of normal husbands, were it not for some incidents immediately after his wife's delivery. He sent her a message to say that Lady Lord (her mother, formerly Lady Althorpe), who was dangerously ill at Mirav's Hotel, had died an event to which, in the earlier hours of labor, he had said that he was sorry to look forward. Then he was summoned to the mother's room. He entered saying: "The child was born dead, wasn't it?"—Mayne's "Life of Byron."

A FAITHFUL SERVANT

Bishop of George Finley Board

BY ROCKWELL B. HUNT

George Finley Board, D.D., LL.D., one of the most honored and respected citizens of Southern California, passed another milestone today in his life of usefulness among us. He is now 73. Throngs of colleagues and friends will gladly greet him and extend warm wishes for many happy returns.

Dr. Board has been identified with the University of Southern California ever since its foundation in 1859. He served as its president from 1901 to 1921 and was active as a trustee ever since.

TEN SECONDS WITH A CANDIDATE

Here's one of those ten-second movie strips of Tommy Loughran, the light-heavyweight king, who finally is to be given his chance in the heavyweight division. In place of the troublesome Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey fight the Madison Square Garden Corporation of New York yesterday announced a Sharkey-Loughran battle for fifteen rounds to be staged September 26. It will be held in the Yankee Stadium.

NIGHT RACERS IN ACTION

Legion Speedway Scene of Thirty-Lap Event Tonight for Grange Trophy; Stubblefield Favorite

A great variety of things will be at stake at the American Legion Speedway tonight, when the east-coast pilots spin their mounts in the weekly dirt-track battles. The result of the race may alter the standings for the 1929 Southwest championship; the winner of the thirty-lap race will be awarded the "Red" Grange trophy and a cash prize. Personal arguments are likely to be settled among the drivers, as well as the fans.

Mal Kennedy has seen his big lead on the southwest title whittled down considerably, until now Walt May and his green Mulford are only a mere thirty-two points away. Jimmy Sharp, the boy wonder, has 135 points and "Stubby" Stubblefield is fourth with ninety-five.

Established body May's winning streak of three straight victories when he raced home a winner last week, and he will be a favorite to repeat tonight. Naturally his main contention will come from the three pilots who are leading: May, Kennedy, and Stubblefield. The signal men on the boat can communicate with those on shore, who will be able to see the race every minute while it is going on.

Jewell expressed great interest in the event, a building-up program for the 1929 Olympic Games. The United States hasn't had a top-notch long-distance swimmer in many years. The signal men on the boat can communicate with those on shore, who will be able to see the race every minute while it is going on.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

For the first time in months a smile of peace and happiness lighted Jane's face. "I was in time after all!" cried the ex-man, coming to the ground in a little grassy clearing. The girl, still dazed from her terrible experience, could not believe her senses. Were they not in Heaven? "No, dear, we are both very much alive," laughed Tarzan.

"How can I convince you that I am no apriori? Yes, it was I whom the delightful 'Monsieur Thauran' pushed overboard, but I did not drown, and here I am very much the same wild man you first knew." The girl rose slowly to her feet and came toward him. "I cannot even yet believe it," she murmured. "Such happiness must be unreal after all these hideous months!"

She came close to him and laid a hand, soft and trembling, upon his arm. "It must be that I am dreaming, and that I shall awaken to see that awful knife descending toward my heart. Kiss me, just once, before I lose my dream forever." Tarzan of the Apes needed no second invitation. He took the girl he loved in his strong arms and kissed her, not once but a hundred times.

Yet when he stopped she put her arms about his neck and drew his lips down to hers once more. For a while both were silent with the wonderful happiness that had come to them. The past was forgotten—the future did not belong to them. But the present, ah, it was theirs; none could take it from them. It was the girl who first broke the great silence.

FOX SIGNS NOTED BARITONE
Universal Picks Tryon's Director and Leading Lady; Estelle Taylor Is Taking Flyer Into Vaudeville; Marie Prevost Plays Lead in "Night Parade"

BY GRACE KINGSLY

"Whispering" Jack Smith, American baritone, who is one of the country's most popular radio entertainers, has been signed to a long-term contract to appear in Fox Movietone all-talking productions. Announcement of the signing of the musical comedy and radio favorite was received from New York yesterday.

Five years ago Smith was a song plugger for Irving Berlin. He acquired his nickname, "Whispering," on the night of his radio debut, although suffering from a cold he was persuaded to sing to the microphone. He was able to sing only slightly above a whisper, but his voice recorded excellently and radio fans instantly demanded to know about the whispering baritone. He has been a Victor recording artist for four years.

It has not yet been settled what will be Smith's first Fox vehicle. He will arrive in Hollywood shortly.

WILLIAM H. CRAFT
WILL DIRECT TRYON

Once more William H. Craft is to be Glenn Tryon's producer, this time over at the Universal studios. You remember it was Craft who started the comedian on his successful way, first with Hal Roach, then at Universal City, Craft directing "Topsy" in "The Circus" and "The Circus" in "The Circus".

Then came some sort of a misunderstanding, and Craft and Tryon separated. However, all is now sweetness and light between the two, and Craft now has the assignment of directing the Universal star in his next picture, "Skinner's Dress Suit".

Merna Kennedy, who played opposite Tryon in "Broadway," you remember, will once more be his leading lady.

Estelle Taylor in Vaudeville

With her tonsils safely out and her general health improved, Estelle Taylor is going back to work. Harry W. E. has booked her for a short tour of the East in R-M-O, vaudeville, in an act written for her by Willard Mack.

Miss Taylor leaves Hollywood the 22nd inst. for New York, where rehearsals will begin at once. Her contract leaves her free to return to Hollywood at any time.

This will be Miss Taylor's first experience in vaudeville, though she has twice before appeared on the stage, first during the season before she entered pictures and again last fall in David Belasco's production of "The Big Fight," opposite her husband, Jack Dempsey.

Miss Taylor is to open her act in Radio-Keith-Orpheum houses in and around New York, then west to Chicago, where friend husband will be promoting fights in the Coliseum, then back to New York, closing at the Palace.

Jack Dempsey is leaving at the end of the week for Chicago.

Marie Prevost Plays Lead

Just as the dog days are upon us, poor little Marie Prevost has got to quit her nice Malibu Beach home for the heat and hard work of the "Nights of the 30's" at R-M-O.

Miss Prevost has been cast in the leading role in "Night Parade," which will commence almost at once.

It is in the capable hands of Hugh Trevor and Miss Prevost that the picture will be made.

Miss Prevost has recently enjoyed experience not only in the talking pictures but on the stage as well.

Nick Stuart With R-M-O

While waiting for his picture to be made, Nick Stuart has been decided in the matter, we understand that it is likely that Nick Stuart will be engaged by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to play the male lead opposite Norma Shearer in their new picture, "The Sign of the Cross".

Young Stuart has been steadily forging ahead in his film career. He has appeared in a number of Fox pictures, all of which have added to his screen popularity.

Baby Stars at Orpheum

Four of our most fascinating Baby Stars are to appear shortly in an act which will tour the Orpheum circuit.

Olivia M. Connell, Mary McAllister, Doris Dawson and Betty Boyd are the four characters in question.

Their act will consist of a series of black-out sketches with possibly a song and dance or two by members of the cast.

Talented in that way, Mary McAllister has been studying dancing, and is to be counted on for a number.

Big Game Hunter Is It

Col. Fred Lindsay, explorer, big-game hunter and noted also in vaudeville as the leading exponent of the Australian stock whip, has been assigned a role in "The Return of Sherlock Holmes," now being recorded as an all-talking screen production at Paramount's Long Island studio.

Col. Lindsay has had a colorful and varied career. As the son of an Australian cattleman, he mastered the use of the native stock whip as a lad. Entering the British army, he served with distinction throughout the Boer war as an officer with the Australian Rough Riders. In the World War he served with the British cavalry. Prior to the World War he traveled extensively in the wilds, and it was his extensive knowledge of Africa that was called into play when he organized the African buffalo hunt for ex-President Theodore Roosevelt, when the latter made his famous big-game-hunting trip to the Continent.

Honorable Society Woman in Film

A month ago Mrs. Florence Horner hadn't an idea in the world that she would be a picture actress. Yesterday she was playing a part in William Boyd's current Pathé film.

It came about in this way. Mrs. Horner, who is a society light in Honolulu, entertained Boyd and his wife when the pair were there a few months ago. When Mrs. Horner came to Los Angeles for a visit, she naturally looked up her former guests. Bill asked her to visit the studio, then jokingly suggested her appearing as an extra.

Another young woman was slated for a small role. She couldn't fathom the director's idea of the role, so she was sent back to the extra ranks, while the director called on Mrs. Horner to have a try at it. She did so well that she suddenly discovered herself to be a screen actress.

HOLLYWOOD BOULEVARD

"STYLE CENTER OF THE WORLD"

By YVONNE of Hollywood

At the Arma Caliente Fashion Show, the Knit Shop will display a sequence of ten exclusive knit garments for fall. These may also be viewed in the windows of the Knit Shop at 6215 Hollywood Blvd.

A far scarf may be used in California the year 'round and often in lieu of a coat. You may choose from the finest collection of fur in the largest clearance sale at the Baker Fur Co., 6225 Hollywood Boulevard, at the lowest prices of all the year.

Furs cannot be cared for in an indifferent and spasmodic fashion and give satisfactory service. They more than any other article of wearing apparel, require special care in order to prolong their wearing qualities. A few hints in regard to the treatment of furs may not be amiss to the average woman. Furs should be combed after each wearing. Do not lay furs away, but hang them up in a dark closet. Have your furrier inspect them occasionally for moths. Wear your furs away from the neck with the tail in the back. Do not put perfume on your furs.

A "Personality" permanent, haircut, marcel or finger wave at the Ida Bell Beauty Shop will enhance your charm and lend a hundred fold, G.L. 1528.

Satin has thus far walked away with all honors as the favored medium for interpreting the early fall mode. In nude and the water color models, intricately cut or relieved with simple drapery, it lends itself admirably to the new evening silhouette of molded lines. The classic simplicity of this type of gown is most alluring when achieved in this soft, gleaming material. It is equally adaptable in black and the darker colors for daytime wear and is ultra-smart in the three-piece suit with blouse of lighter shade.

Gene who is travel-wise looks first to his luggage. Should it show signs of wear, he takes it to Bohlin Co., 1610 1/2 N. Hollywood, and has it restored to its original beauty at small cost. On second thought, the family silver is also left to be repaired.

Since wrist watches have a habit of becoming misplaced and sliding off bureau tops and dressing tables, a new night light has come in to help take care of them. They are equipped with standard batteries and come in modernistic effects to represent birds and animals or as crystal glasses or odd blocks. A ledge or hook is provided for holding the watch.

For smart little street dresses, tailored suits and sport and travel coats, tweed is proving its adaptability in a manner not at all surprising to those who have been watching the evolution of this interesting material. Scored at one time as being too masculine in feeling for the average woman's taste, it has developed such amazing characteristics with the passing of each season that it stands today in a class by itself. Fine in texture, original in design, and versatile in coloring it is now acclaimed as the ideal medium for developing a certain type of sport and travel garment which cannot even be approached in any other material. Possessing an aristocratic air of quiet distinction, it rightfully deserves the place it has won in the hearts of smart women everywhere.

Utah Man Loses Battle Against Extradition

California laws do not recognize an agreement between husband and wife waiving the husband's responsibility of supporting his child, Superior Judge Aggeler, ruled yesterday when he remanded to the Utah authorities Frank M. Smith, 32 years of age, who was fighting extradition on charges of non-support of his 3-year-old daughter.

Smith was arrested here two years ago, court records show, and posted a bond of $1000 for his appearance in Utah. He was back to Provo and there married Miss Edith Roberts. He asserts that at that time they agreed that they would live together and that he would not be forced to support either the child or herself. Recently she found it difficult to support the little girl, and filed information charging him with non-support. His arrest here followed.

Judge Aggeler ruled that the law cannot recognize an agreement of such nature and that he must support his child and turned him over to the Utah authorities for trial.

SARGENT LAID AT REST

Services for the late Sargent S. Sargent, president of the Title Guaranty and Trust Company, were conducted yesterday at the Masonic Temple under auspices of South California Lodge No. 278, F. & A. M., and Los Angeles Commandery No. 3, K. T. His body was placed in the family room at Forest Lawn Mausoleum.

Mr. Sargent died at his home, 621 E. 4th Avenue, on Saturday. He had been in Los Angeles for forty-two years and had been one of the leading business men of Southern California. He leaves his widow, Alma M. Sargent, a daughter, Mrs. F. Kello, and two stepdaughters, Mrs. E. B. Yeakum and Mrs. E. B. Yeakum.

The active pallbearers were: A. R. Killgore, George A. Reimers, Albert Schuck, H. R. Kleinbach, M. L. White and Alfred Cate.

DIET? BUNK! SUGAR? SURE! MEAT? FINE! SAYS DOCTOR

The so-called eighteen-day diet is "about as sensible as the eight-day diet," according to Dr. Woods Hutchinson, noted author and lecturer on pathological topics, who, in an address at the City Club yesterday, told his audience that the healthiest people are those who eat pretty much what they like, as much as they choose and whenever they are hungry.

"The old idea that people eat too much is based on the puritanic assumption that whatever man enjoys is sinful and therefore harmful to body and mind," said Dr. Hutchinson. "Nearly everyone eats almost his weight every thirty days and practically everything eaten is good. Overeating is not our national sin but rather our national virtue. America has the lowest death rate of any country excepting England, and the amount of food we consume has much to do with our national health and longevity. Much more is created and used to work for him, almost continuously, and a man cannot be happy when his stomach is idle and pleading for enjoyment."

Declaring that the old idea that meat eating is harmful has been exploded, Dr. Hutchinson said that meat is especially good and that meat is the best single food. Ham and eggs, he said, is "the best food ever invented." Breakfast foods he characterized as "light amusements," saying that if such foods are dry they are half wind, and, if wet, seven-eighths water.

"People are coming to believe less and less in drugs and more in good air, exercise and sleep," said the speaker. "It is interesting to note the small proportion of space given to drugs in our modern drug stores. The soda fountains, with their refreshing drinks, fruits and sandwiches, and the cosmetic departments, patronized by those who precede the use of cosmetics with a good bath and massage, do more for the health of the people than the drug store."

Instead of being harmful, eating between meals usually is good, especially for children, according to Dr. Hutchinson, who also declared that sugar and candy, eaten in reasonable quantities, are beneficial to children and adults alike.

Admitting, upon questions from the floor, that a certain amount of self-control in diet is desirable, Dr. Hutchinson said that a person should stop eating the moment he begins to feel satisfied. Fletcherism, or chewing one's food to a pulp, all foil the speaker, adding that "No amount of mastication can substitute for lack of sufficient caloric, enzymes and other essentials of diet." The best way to "reduce," Dr. Hutchinson said, is to "eat small amounts of rich food frequently."

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the lovely midsummer weddings was that of last evening when, in Beverly Hills Community Church, Miss Dorothy Haldeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Haldeman, became the bride of Herbert Clark Webb with Dr. James Leichman of Pasadena officiating.

The church was lovely with a profusion of gladioli and dahlias, and the color scheme being stressed. Tall cathedral candelabra lighted the altar and were placed down the aisles, the pew ends being topped with clusters of the flowers tied with matching broad satin ribbons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a charmingly becoming gown of egg-shell tulle, French mode, and carried a large, round, old-fashioned bouquet of white and pink roses, and a small bouquet of white and pink roses.

All of the attendants wore frocks of bouffant flowered tulle, and the bridesmaids wore frocks of white and pink. The bridesmaids included Mrs. Harry Haldeman (Betty Robbins), Mrs. Karl Dircksen, and Miss Elizabeth Wheat.

Everett Mansur, an old friend of Mr. Webb, served as best man and the ushers included Arnold K. Fitzer, Harry Francis Haldeman, Karl Dircksen, Melville Haldeman and Douglas Leichman.

Two little youngsters, niece and nephew of the bride, Betty Jo Fitzer and Bobby Haldeman, were the flower girls, and Charles Wakefield Goodman presided at the organ and gave a program as the guests were assembling and also played the wedding march.

A reception for a few close friends and relatives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold K. Fitzer, 812 North Hollywood Boulevard, followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Webb left for their honeymoon trip, motorizing north. They will make their home here after their return.

Mrs. Haldeman received her guests in a gown of pink and silver chiffon, a corsage of orchids completing her costume. The bride, one of the most popular members of the younger set, attended University of Southern California and is a member of Pi Beta Phi Sorority, while Mr. Webb, son of Mr.

and Mrs. Frederick L. Webb of Bangor, Me., was graduated from Bowdoin College and is affiliated with Zeta Psi Fraternity.

For Bride-Elect

Miss Mary Adelaide Lane, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Lane, Jr., of South Gate street, whose wedding with Benjamin S. Steele, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Steele of North Hollywood, is to be an event of the 20th inst., is being much entertained before the wedding day.

The ceremony will take place in the Little Church of the Flowers, Glendale, when Mrs. Frances Wolf (Beulah Lane) of Buffalo will assist her sister as matron of honor, Miss Ethel Steele, sister of the bridegroom, will be maid of honor and other attendants will include Miss Gladys Reitz, Mrs. Forrest Warren (Adela Lahart), Frances Gohlke of San Bernardino, while the bridesmaid will be the bride, Mary Frances Wolf, will be the dainty flower girl.

Among the recent events given for Miss Lane was the miscellaneous shower with which Mrs. Forrest Warren entertained the guests including Mrs. Della Gammie, Secretary of the bride.

A color scheme of pink and green was carried out effectively in the decorations. The bride wore a gown of pink and silver chiffon, a corsage of orchids completing her costume.

Another lovely affair was the lingerie shower given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Francis Wolf at the home of her mother, Mrs. George E. Lane, Jr., twenty-five guests being invited.

Midsummer Picnic

The Lambda Chi Alpha alumni living in Southern California held their annual midsummer picnic at Manhattan Beach, Sunday, July 28, two cottages on the ocean front serving as headquarters for the party, and a delicious picnic luncheon was served at noon after which swimming and beach games featured the afternoon's entertainment.

Those included were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Kulberg, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stinner, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. Olin Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Vaughan, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Jacobson, Miss Jane Wilmet, Miss Dorothy May, Miss Mildred Tully and Patrick Henry, David Van Rens, Howard Brown, Brodie Alipho and Paul Winans.

Wedding Announced

Miss Dorothy Brackney, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Brackney of Melbourne avenue, became the bride of Gordon S. Knight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Knight of North Vine street, Hollywood, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. J. Fry at the Little Church of the Flowers, Wednesday evening, July 31, at 7:15 o'clock.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming gown of egg shell satin, the long skirt, with irregular hemline, made in circular tiers. Over the tight fitting bodice a short jacket of rare old lace was worn, and instead of the conventional veil, a knee length tulle veil was worn, caught with a band of orange blossoms, and a shower bouquet of yellow roses and lilies of the valley was carried. Miss Dorothy Kelley was the bride's first attendant, wearing a frock of peach tulle, bouffant in style, and carrying a bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

A reception followed, seventy-five guests being invited. Decorations for the affair were baskets of asters and gladioli in brilliant tones. Mr. and Mrs. Knight left for a motor honeymoon trip to Seattle and Vancouver and on their return will make their home in Hollywood.

Manner-Zuckerman

One of the lovely weddings of the month was that of Sunday, the 4th inst., when at high noon Miss Lucille Mannes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Mannes, 648 South Main

HER MARRIAGE PLANS REVEALED

Wedding Will Take Place in Early Fall

Miss Virian Bernice Margolis [Ray Huff studies]

FORMAL announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Margolis of 2316 Nottingham avenue, Los Feliz Heights, of the engagement of their third daughter, Miss Virian Bernice Margolis, to Julius Fern, the wedding to be one of the events of the early fall.

Miss Margolis is a former student of Immaculate Heart College for Girls, and at present is studying music at the Pico Cimini school, while young Fern, one of our promising young business men, attended University of California at Los Angeles.

field avenue, became the bride of Max Zuckerman, the ceremony taking place at the Mary Louie, with Rabbi Herman Lissauer officiating, in the presence of eighty guests.

The ceremony was read in the Rose Room, where one end was banked with ferns and palms, an aisle of gold standards, linked together with white tulle ribbons, leading to the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was an attractive picture in her wedding gown of white crepe chiffon, fashioned with tight bodice and many tiered skirt of circular flounces, with which she wore a veil of tulle attached to a coronet of lace and pearls. Her bouquet was of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Irma Lavrovich assisted her cousin as matron of honor and only attendant, wearing a gown of orchid chiffon and carrying an armful of pale-pink roses. Ben Wilens served Mr. Zuckerman as best man.

A wedding dinner followed in the Italian Tea Garden, the tables grouped about the fountain, masses of summer flowers adding their color to the gaiety of the scene. After dinner, guests were entertained by several out-of-town guests were in attendance, Mr. and Mrs. Max Rosenthal and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Burnings coming by special plane from San Francisco. Others from the northern city were Mrs. Michel Raphael and Messrs. Carl, Al and Max Mannes. Mr. and Mrs. Zuckerman, who are on a northern honeymoon trip in Canada, will be gone several weeks.

Guiding Your Child

By Mrs. Agnes Lynne

Surely somewhere in the vicinity of your abode this summer there are two or three or four trees growing. One of these trees, if they are once suggest the possibility of a tree house. Perhaps you are even so fortunate as to have close by a single large tree whose spreading arms will hold a little house without other support.

Your child will love a tree house. If he is old enough to get him the necessary wood and tools and let him have his friends make it together. When you are sure that the materials are solidly in place you may feel safe in letting the children build the rest of the house quite according to their own wishes.

The tree house lends itself to all sorts of play. The solitary child will delight to climb up to his remote spot. He may pull up his ladder after him and experience the thrill of inaccessibility. In his tree-house he can live in the world of his imagination. Studied by the leafy canopy over his head he can read undisturbed. He can day-dream now and then as every child should have the chance to do.

If he is sociable, the tree house may be a starting point for adventure. It can be the meeting place for him and his friends of place apart from the interference of the adult world, a secret council room where high doings may be initiated. In the seclusion of his tree house, where some night, he may elect to sleep, your child may know his first intimacy with nature in her early-morning moods. He may watch the warblers getting their breakfast close at hand among the leafy twigs and catch the first long rays of the sun in the branches over his head.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

TOMATO STUFFED WITH CHICKEN SALAD

Take even sized tomatoes, cut off a slice from the top, and fill with a chicken salad made by mixing two cups of chopped cold chicken with one-half a cup of finely chopped celery, one-third of a cup of capers, a seasoning of salt and white pepper. Marinate with a French dressing, allow to stand in a cool place for three hours, drain well, scoop out the tomatoes, and fill with the chicken salad, that has had one-fourth of a cup of mayonnaise mixed with it. Decorate the top with slices of stuffed olives, and the center with a few capers, place on a bed of shredded lettuce, place four slices of stuffed olives at an equal distance apart, and between the stuffed olives triangles of Swiss cheese.

LEMON PUDDING

Place in a sauce pan, one-third of a cup of butter, one-half a cup of sugar, the yolk of three eggs, the grated rind of one lemon and four tablespoons of lemon juice, mix all together, set on the fire, and stir briskly for five minutes. Remove from the fire, and beat with a rotary egg beater for one minute. Beat the whites of the three eggs to a stiff froth, add to the mixture, and mix thoroughly. Place in a pan, pour hot water up to half of their height around them, and set in the oven for twenty five minutes. Unmold and serve with a sweet cream sauce.

press the words and phrases and set the part her mother has forced upon her. She has come to dislike dressing because too much is expected of her.

Oil Man Back From Air Tour

Dudley Steele, in charge of the aviation department of the Richfield Oil Company, landed his Stearman biplane at the Aero Corporation Airport yesterday, completing a three weeks' business trip to New York and back by air. His flying time westward was 23h. 35m.

Since hopping off from here three weeks ago, Steele passed through thirteen States and made stops at thirty-two cities. He estimated that the distance he traveled, the cities he visited and the business he accomplished would have consumed six weeks by older means of transportation.

At Dayton, O. Steele attended the army air-fuel conference; at Cleveland he conferred with officials regarding this year's national air race, to be held there; and at various points between here and Kansas City he assured himself the airports of T.A.T. and Western Air Express are being supplied with sufficient Richfield.

BEING SOCIABLE A NATURAL GROWTH

"How can I make my little girl act nice to strangers? She has no manners. She runs and hides and refuses to speak when spoken to. All of this embarrasses me and makes me very unhappy."

Your child may not be this way. She may have been taught little parrot phrases which she utters at the right moment and fills her parents with pride; but if so, she is the exception. The average child finds manners, as taught by most parents, both absurd and horrid.

Being sociable and naturally growing out of a real human need to be liked and to have companionship. Social graces are the outcome of these needs. They are not learned by their own experience that they are better liked and more popular when they treat people courteously instead of rudely, the manners which the parent paints on them are just an easily destroyed veneer.

It is far easier to teach a child by suggestion than by command; the matter of manners, the last method is almost barren of results. To tell a child he must do a certain thing when brought into the presence of strangers, that he must speak certain words, are to court antagonism and refusal. He sees no reason for these things, they are echoes of his own emotions and so seem useless to him. But if he has always heard these phrases spoken when visitors come to the house, when he is spoken to and then let alone so that his conduct whether good or ill has no particular stress laid upon it, when "thank you" and "please" are unalterable parts of the situation of wanting and getting, the child will unconsciously learn by their own experience that they are better liked and more popular when they treat people courteously instead of rudely, the manners which the parent paints on them are just an easily destroyed veneer.

USE HARD SWIMMING STROKES

Many women take up swimming in order to become graceful, or to develop their bodies with more symmetry. However, a woman learns to swim so easily that she continues to use her favorite swimming strokes which may become easy to her, and does not give her as much exercise as if many difficult strokes were used. It is often of value to use a little of each stroke, and to swim in order to get the most exercise. For this reason it is advisable for everyone to take swimming lessons and learn as many different kinds of strokes and movements in the water as possible. The most common stroke is the "dog stroke" or the "crawl stroke". When one who cannot swim is suddenly thrown into the water, he will usually naturally resort to this stroke and be able to keep afloat.

When the side stroke is used, the swimmer should learn to alternate the strokes so that the right arm is used in the forward stroke for a short distance the swimmer should turn to the other side and use the left arm. This begins usually like this stroke, since they do not have to submerge the face, as in the crawl stroke.

The breast stroke affords a very good exercise and more resembles the swimming movements of the fish.

In the crawl stroke the arms are used alternately, reaching far forward and pulling the body from side to side. The breathing must be carefully controlled, and as the face is submerged part of the time, it is necessary to take short breaths through the mouth while the mouth is out of the water, and exhaling through the nose when the face is submerged under the water from nose to the throat. This promotes vigorous deep breathing and makes the crawl stroke easier to learn.

The back stroke is another excellent movement which uses the muscles in an entirely different way than any of the other strokes. While lying face downward, any good swimming instructor can teach you these different kinds of strokes, but to be confident to continue using only the movements which are easy for you.

It is sometimes a good plan to learn the crawl stroke, which is named "Gayety gown", and the breast stroke, which is named "Frock of Moons". Another stroke which is named "Clayton" is also a good stroke to learn. Orphans Will Be Given Outing on Solomon Ranch

Children of the Los Angeles Orphan Asylum will be feted by Fred H. Solomon on his Topanga Canyon ranch the 30th inst., in keeping with his custom of annually providing an all-day outing for the youngsters.

Preparations are being made to transport the little ones on a fleet of motor busses from the home to the ranch where they will be permitted to run wild for the day. A lightening tour of the west bay beaches will be conducted on the way to the party.

A program is being arranged by Solomon for his little guests, including sports events on an athletic field, consider in the outdoor swimming pool, pony rides, visits to his aviary and dog kennels, and a feed, to be served under the spacious trees at noon.

Several public officials have been invited to attend the party and assist in the entertainment of the youngsters.

Kansas Society Will Play Host to Capper Tonight

Senator Capper of Kansas, who is in Los Angeles on a short vacation trip, and enthusiastically gathering data on the workings of Southern California co-operative marketing groups, will be the guest of honor at the Kansas tonight will dine at the Hotel California, 1000 Wilshire Blvd., at 10:30 p.m.

Members of that society will turn their monthly meeting into a reception for the visitor.

Judge William F. Schoon, formerly of Topeka, will be the master of ceremonies. The program is to include singing, dancing and refreshments.

Tomorrow morning the Senator is scheduled to present himself before the members of the Verdugo Woodlands Breakfast Club, where an "investigation" of farm relief will be made. Among those who will attend are Representatives Swing and Evans, State Senators Weller, of Glendale and Nelson of Burbank, Supervisor Wright and Mayor Porter.

Macaroni 'King' Held for Trial

Anthony Bismari, "macaroni king" of 908 North Dillon street, was bound over for trial by Superior Court on manslaughter charges growing out of the death of Mrs. Sophie Schulte of St. Louis in an automobile accident by Municipal Judge Ballard yesterday. The court set bail at $50,000.

Witnesses called by Dep. Dist. Atty. Burgess testified that Bismari was driving at a high rate of speed on the wrong side of Alhambra Road when he struck Mrs. Schulte, who was crossing in a pedestrian route at the Golden Gate camp. J. P. Neely, camp manager, declared that Bismari's car skidded for 150 feet when he applied the brakes just before striking the woman.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY 1414

The Story of the World War 184—German Plans, Spring, 1918.

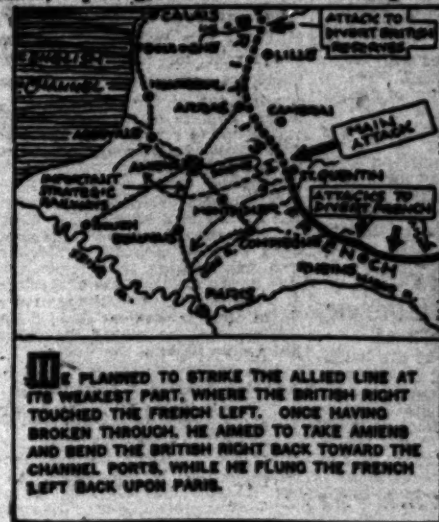

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

IN THE EARLY SPRING OF 1918 THE ALLIED ARMIES WERE STANDING ON THE DEFENSIVE, AND WONDERING WHAT THE GERMANS INTENDED TO DO. FEARING THE ENEMY MIGHT MAKE A SUDDEN DRIVE FOR THE CHANNEL PORTS, SO VITAL TO THE BRITISH, GEN. HAIG, BRITISH COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, KEPT HIS RESERVES NORTH OF THE SOMME, LEAVING THE RIGHT OF THE BRITISH LINE, WHICH HAD RECENTLY BEEN EXTENDED SOUTHWARD TO THE OISE, THINLY HELD.

MEANWHILE, FIELD MARSHAL VON HINDENBURG, WITH THE GREAT STRATEGIST LUDENDORFF, WAS PREPARING A MIGHTY OFFENSIVE WHICH HE HOPED WOULD DEFEAT THE BRITISH ARMY AND BRING FRANCE TO HER KNEES BEFORE ENOUGH AMERICAN TROOPS COULD ARRIVE TO TURN THE TIDE.

THE PLANNED TO STRIKE THE ALLIED LINE AT ITS WEAKEST PART, WHERE THE BRITISH RIGHT TOUCHED THE FRENCH LEFT. ONCE HAVING BROKEN THROUGH, HE AIMED TO TAKE AMIENS AND SEND THE BRITISH RIGHT BACK TOWARD THE CHANNEL PORTS, WHILE HE FLUNG THE FRENCH LEFT BACK UPON PARIS.

WILL AIDS DIVORCED WIFE

Mrs. Leggat Gets Income of $200,000 Estate Left by Pasadena Unless She Remarries

If Mrs. Hazel Craig Leggat remarries she will lose $200,000 a year, her income from the $200,000 estate of her husband, John Leggat, who died April 12, last, just six months after his wife sued for divorce, it appeared from the will, on file in Probate Court here yesterday.

Mrs. Leggat was awarded custody of her two children, John M., 9 years of age, and Joseph C., 12, by terms of the divorce decree, signed February 7, last, by Superior Judge Brown. Mrs. Leggat complained that her husband became intoxicated at his home in Pasadena and in various public places, much to her embarrassment and inconvenience.

The Leggats were married May 3, 1915, at Dundas, Can. Leggat was a resident of Hamilton, Ont.

Because the children of the couple were the household furnishings owned by their father, and various club memberships, Mrs. Leggat was appointed their guardian. The Security-First National is executor and the estate will be divided between the children when they attain the age of 25 years.

Mrs. Leggat's address is given in her testamentary as 625 South Madison street, Pasadena.

CREWS WIN IN BEVERLY CANYON FIRE

Blaze Starting from Unknown Cause Destroys 400 Acres of Brush

More than 400 acres of brush in Coldwater Canyon north of Beverly Hills was destroyed yesterday by fire which, while officially undetermined as to origin, is believed to have started from a match or lighted cigarette stub discarded by a passing motorist.

The fire was discovered before noon and the alarm turned in by Harold Lloyd, who with his company was working on a picture some distance away. It burned all day, and at darkness Capt. Hatfield of the city fire department announced that, although still burning, it is under control and that a change of wind direction will be completely extinguished before daybreak. A patrol he said, will be maintained all night.

One hundred fire fighters had been sent into the region tonight to battle the flames on a ridge between Bear Creek and the south fork of the Santa Ana River.

There are no dwellings in the path of the flames.

WOMAN TRIO ENTANGLED IN RUM NET

Seven Men Also Arrested in Series of Police Vice Squad Raids in City

The large spot, said Hickox, who is doing Dr. Nicholson's work while he is on his vacation, "has apparently disintegrated and now appears as small spots which measure less than 10,000 miles in width."

The principal liquor raid was at 134 North Harvard boulevard, where, the officers report, they arrested Mrs. Margaret Searon, John Mance, J. E. Kierpatrick and Joseph La Rue and confiscated the valuable liquor plant.

At 628 South Bixel street the officers under Sgt. Crane took in custody William Harris and Sam Shapiro of 2600 Broadway avenue and, according to the report, confiscated 123 pints of gin. Harris was booked for possession and Shapiro for possession and transportation.

The Bixel-street address is the apartment-house in which Eddie Bennett, arrested bootlegger, was shot to death in a fight several months ago.

From there the same detail went to 217 Palms Verde avenue, where they arrested Charles A. Bruce on a charge of possession.

Another raiding squad under Sgt. Bergman arrested Mrs. Thelma Brown, negro, at 604 East Thirtieth street. She was booked on possession and sale.

At 1244 East Fifty-fifth street a third detail of police under Sgt. Roy took in custody May Whitaker and booked her on possession and sale. Later the officers raided a house at 1879 East Thirtieth street, charging Robert J. Smith with possession and transportation, and another at 906 East Fourth street, where they booked and confiscated 179 quarts of gin but made no arrests.

Shoe Emporium Crew to Picnic

Three hundred employees of the Los Angeles, Hollywood, Pasadena and San Diego shops of the Westbury-Kayser Shoe Company will have their forty-fifth annual picnic next Saturday at Lido Isle, near Balboa. Meeting at the Flower-street shop at 8 a.m. they will proceed by motor to Balboa, thence by launch to the island.

The program will include athletic events, bathing-suit parade, golf, tennis, aquatic sports and comedy acts, for which prizes will be awarded. A five-piece orchestra will provide music for dancing at the picnic.

Officers Seek McLean Here

Efforts were being made yesterday by deputy United States marshals to locate Edward B. McLean, Washington (D. C.) publisher, to serve a subpoena on him. The publisher, who is said to be on vacation in Southern California, is reported to be wanted as a witness in the case against Albert R. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, in connection with the Elk Hills naval oil leases.

The subpoena calls for McLean's presence in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia.

Building Owner Plans Center for Aviation

That an aviation center may be established in the Brownstein-Lewis Building at Eighth and Figueroa streets, was the statement made last night by Henry W. Lewis, one of the owners of the structure.

"Our plans are tentative as yet," he said, "but we have sent out questionnaires to the aviation trade and have received seventy favorable replies as to the need of an aviation center. If the plans are carried through it will mean that the entire building, with more than 200,000 square feet of floor space will be devoted to the exhibition of planes, aviation accessories and to clubrooms.

The Brownstein-Lewis Company, shirt and overall makers, occupy the building at present but will move to another location soon.

ENGINEER REPORTS ON NEED OF BRIDGE

City Engineer Shaw yesterday filed a report with the Council concerning the improvement of Burbank boulevard between Sepulveda boulevard and Ventura boulevard, stating that there appears to be a necessity for a bridge across the Los Angeles River channel a mile and a quarter west of Sepulveda boulevard at an estimated cost of $25,000. He asked for instructions on the matter and his report was filed with the Public Works Committee.

OL' SOL ERASES NOSE FRECKLE

Magnetic Storms Averted by Heavenly Cosmetics

Huge Sunspot Now Spread Over Whole Face

Mt. Wilson Observers Note Beauty Cure

(By a "Times" Staff Correspondent) PASADENA, Aug. 7.—Bowing to the present mode for golden tan, Old Sol is busily engaged today in erasing a large freckle which threatened to cause magnetic storms and interfere with telegraphic and radio communication this week, it was revealed this afternoon by J. O. Hickox, Mt. Wilson Observatory astronomer.

The sunspot, measuring more than 25,000 miles in diameter, was observed last month by Dr. Seth B. Nicholson, also of the Mt. Wilson staff. It was expected it would disappear with greater intensity at the end of this week, but, according to Hickox, it appears to have broken into many parts while the sun's face was turned from the earth. It requires twenty-five days for a complete revolution of the sun.

"The large spot," said Hickox, who is doing Dr. Nicholson's work while he is on his vacation, "has apparently disintegrated and now appears as small spots which measure less than 10,000 miles in width."

The principal liquor raid was at 134 North Harvard boulevard, where, the officers report, they arrested Mrs. Margaret Searon, John Mance, J. E. Kierpatrick and Joseph La Rue and confiscated the valuable liquor plant.

At 628 South Bixel street the officers under Sgt. Crane took in custody William Harris and Sam Shapiro of 2600 Broadway avenue and, according to the report, confiscated 123 pints of gin. Harris was booked for possession and Shapiro for possession and transportation.

Arizonans Will Hear Phillips

Gov. J. C. Phillips of Arizona will be the honored speaker today when the Arizona Society of Southern California has its annual picnic at Bixby Park, Long Beach, according to an announcement by Alfred Livingston, president.

Gov. Phillips flew to Los Angeles from Phoenix Tuesday on his first air-transport trip. He is expected to attend the picnic and to spend a short vacation with his daughter in Wilmington.

INSTRUCTORS ADDED TO STAFF AT U.S.C.

NEW TEACHERS WILL TAKE UP WORK AT BEGINNING OF SCHOOL THIS FALL

The University of Southern California announces the appointment of Dr. Clinton B. Thomas, of the University of Oregon, as associate professor of pharmacology in the school of medicine, effective with the opening of the fall semester in September, and the appointment of Paul W. Smith as assistant in physiology in the school of medicine.

Another new faculty member is Fred Malcolm Bissell, formerly of Bryn Mawr College (A.M. Yale, Ph.D. Yale), an associate professor of zoology in the college of engineering.

Sidney F. Duncan, a graduate of California Institute of Technology, has been appointed instructor in mechanical and electrical engineering.

J. L. RONNOW CHOSEN RAILROAD'S ATTORNEY

J. L. Ronnow, until recently with the City Attorney's office, has been appointed attorney for the Union Pacific Railroad, according to a statement yesterday by A. S. Halsted, general solicitor of the railroad.

Ronnow, following World War, graduated from Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., in 1922. He resigned from the City Attorney's office in 1926, to accept an appointment in the City Attorney's office here.

OWNER OF TIN SHOP TAKEN IN STILL CASE

C. S. Berthold, alias Charles Bush, said to be owner of a tin shop at 4012 Whittier boulevard, was arrested yesterday by Capt. Benton of the Sheriff's dry force and Federal dry agents on a charge of possession of a still. He was released on bail pending a hearing before United States Commissioner Head. It was reported that the agents purchased a twenty-five-gallon still from the defendant for $75.

WIFE EMBARRASSED HIM, COLAW RECITES

Because Mrs. Badie B. Colaw wanted to live in Los Angeles instead of San Jose, her husband, Cyrus W. Colaw, sued her for divorce, then had the complaint transferred to Los Angeles for trial. Although Mrs. Colaw nagged and scolded him when they were alone, he asserted, when in contact with other persons she put her arms about his shoulders and kissed and caressed him, greatly to his embarrassment, he related.

HOLD-UP MAN ROBS BANK

Employees of Central-Avenue Institution Herded Into Vault and Bandit Flees With $3000

A well-dressed bandit yesterday held up the Pacific National Bank at 4701 South Central avenue and, after forcing two employees into a steel vault, escaped with $3000 in cash, according to a report to police by F. L. May, manager. At the point of a revolver the man ordered both May and W. O. Ballenger, book-keeper, who were the only persons in the bank at the time, to lie on the floor.

When they obeyed he scooped up bandit had made his escape in a car or foot.

Many told police he recognized the man as one who had appeared at the bank on Tuesday and made inquiries about leasing property near by.

NATATORIAL STUNT HER BIRTHDAY TASK

Mrs. Anna E. Van Skike

FEAT MARKS SIXTY-NINTH NATAL DAY

Santa Monica Woman in Fourteen-Mile Swim for Birthday Celebration

(By a "Times" Staff Correspondent) SANTA MONICA, Aug. 7. (Exclusive)—After celebrating her sixty-ninth birthday by swimming fourteen miles through stiff currents in thirteen hours, Mrs. Anna E. Van Skike of Santa Monica today rested and told about her birthday exercise.

Mrs. Van Skike's birthday was yesterday and, as on her natal day for several years, she devoted it to natation. And her birthday garb was a coat of axle grease all over.

She started from the Venice pier at 2 a.m., swam to a point opposite Santa Monica Canyon, and returned. Outward bound, she struck stiff currents and cold water, was marked by a school of jellyfish off the turning point and ran into rough water coming back. Municipal Life Guards Paul Dunspeck and Christy Miller followed her in a boat.

"I swam enough water to fill a swimming pool," said Mrs. Van Skike tonight. "But I feel fine, and am going to try for a longer swim on my seventieth birthday."

Carpenters Ask Police Arrest Asserted Red

Leon Mabile, 29-year-old Serbian of 229 North Boylston street, was arrested last night in front of the Studio Carpenters' Local, No. 1092, headquarters at 1110 Serrano street, for distributing handbills to pedestrians without a license, officers when they found that Mabile was handing out literature of the Trade Union Educational League, asserted by Hynes to be a branch of the soviet organization. The carpenters, Hynes said, disclaimed all connection with Mabile and requested his arrest.

NEW POST OF LEGION HAS INSTALLATION

Installation of Ninety-first Division, A.E.F. Post, American Legion, was conducted last night in Patriotic Hall, with Commander Guernsey P. Fraser and 120 members participating in the new organization. Membership is restricted to former service men of this combat division of the Pacific Coast. The installation was in charge of Bud Gearhart, past commander of Fresno post and chairman of the State membership committee. Ingelwood post was drilled led by Commander Homer Chaballier. Initiated twenty new members. Representative Craig told of legislation for appropriation for a new wing of the Sawville Soldiers' Home Veteran Bureau Hospital and four new barracks to cost $1,500,000.

MARION MCCOY BOUGHT

Disappearance of Marion McCoy, 8 years of age, son of Clyde McCoy of 628 East Fifty-third street, was reported yesterday to juvenile authorities. McCoy said his son vanished from home on the 2nd inst. and has not been seen by relatives or neighbors since. Because of the boy's extreme youth, the father is sure he did not go away alone. The boy has brown hair and eyes, and wore brown pants, light shirt and tennis shoes.

OUSTED DEPUTY SUES FOR PAY

Asserts He Was Illegally Ousted by Fitts

District Attorney Charged With Irregularity

War Veteran Wants $4000 He Asserts Due Him

Dist. Atty. Fitts and County Auditor Payne must appear in Superior Court on the 20th inst. and answer to a writ of mandamus sought by Edgar T. Fee, ex-deputy in Fitts's office, which asks back salary from January 15, last, amounting to about $4000. Superior Judge Craig signed the writ late yesterday.

Fee asserts that Fitts prevented him from acting and performing duties of a deputy from January 15, last, having demanded the resignation "so he (Fitts) might appoint others not in the classified civil service to such positions."

Fee said he returned to resign, and asserts he was illegally excluded from the position.

CITIZEN WAR RECORD

Because he is a veteran of the World War Fee asserts that by virtue of county ordinance he is entitled to preference in employment, which he says he did not receive. Instead, he asserts, a person ineligible for appointment under civil service rules got the job. Seventeen other ineligible candidates were appointed at the same time. Fee demands $4000.

Attacking Fitts's statement that "efficiency and economy" required that the plaintiff be relieved from duty, Fee declares that in November, 1923, the month preceding that in which Dist. Atty. Fitts took office, there was $22,546 paid to deputy district attorneys and in June, 1929, there was paid out as salaries in the same office the sum of $38,182.

ATTACKS CHARGES

Charges made against Fee before the Civil Service Commission are "false and untrue," he asserts, and were made for the sole purpose of evading the civil service law and creating positions for the District Attorney's political friends.

At the close of this hearing, where the appeals of Fee and three other dismissed deputies, Frank E. Thomas, Earl and William R. Stephens, were heard, the Civil Service Commission in a majority opinion, upheld the action of the District Attorney in dismissing the four men. A dissenting opinion, by one member held that Dist. Atty. Fitts did not have grounds for dismissing the four men.

Although Fee alone asked for a court writ compelling payment of his back salary, Ex-Dep. Dist. Atty. Hynes, another of the dismissed men, said he is considering filing a similar petition today.

WIFE RELATES TALE OF MISTREATMENT

Testifying that her husband, Norman Peters, inflicted a course of treatment upon her designed to break her will, because of asserted wrongs done him by her mother, Mrs. Lillian Peters yesterday went before Superior Judge Dehy seeking a divorce.

Mrs. Peters declared that her husband told her she was a great sinner and began mistreating her immediately after her mother died. She further testified that right after their baby was born Peters ordered her and her child from the home.

Mrs. Peters was given a decree, the custody of the child and $40 a month for her support.

IMPERIAL GRAPE SEASON CLOSED

EL CENTRO, Aug. 7. — Imperial Valley's grape season ended yesterday when the last six carloads of the season's harvest were forwarded to market. The total output from valley vineyards this year was 330 cars, not including truck shipments. The output last year was 443 cars.

While shipments were smaller than a year ago, due to the lateness of the season, higher prices prevailed and the crop was more profitable than last year, according to report of the growers.

MEDICINE MAKER TO FACE FIVE CHARGES

John S. Peterson is accused of five counts of violation of the pure food laws in a complaint issued yesterday by City Prosecutor Nix at the instance of Inspector Wray of the pharmacy board. Wray informed Nix that he had seized a large amount of medicines of Peterson's manufacture at his stands at 426 South Main street and 102 Winston street, where they were being sold for the cure of various ailments.

NEW LAW HITS CHECK FRAUDS

Passers of "N.S.F." Paper to Be Liable to Jail or Prison Terms

Bad-check passers face terms of from one year in the County Jail to fourteen years in State prison if they are caught passing "N.S.F." checks on or after the 14th inst., when the amendment to Section 476 of the Penal Code becomes effective. This amendment fixes the severe prison term for passers of worthless checks.

Any person who wilfully, with intent to defraud, draws or delivers a check or draft, knowing that he has not sufficient funds on deposit for the payment of the check or draft, will be liable to a jail or prison term.

RIDE COSTS YOUTH'S LIFE

Negro Boy Killed by Falling Timber on Truck; Mother's Sacrifice May Prove Fatal

A youth was killed and a woman probably fatally injured in motor accidents in the city yesterday. Thomas Carter, a negro boy, 17 years of age, 1120 South Alabama street, clambered on a lumber truck driven by Hugh White, 6970 Locma Vista street and at the corner of One Hundred and Eleventh street and Compton avenue, where the truck turned, a forty-foot timber rolled over the youth, fracturing his skull and causing other injuries which caused his death a short time later at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. Police investigators released White after securing his statement.

In an effort to protect the life of her 18-year-old daughter Margaret, Mrs. J. V. Moseley, 1921 East Seventy-first street, received injuries in an automobile crash at the corner of Centinella and Commercial streets yesterday, which physicians at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital say may result in her death. The mother and daughter were passengers in a car driven by J. V. Moseley, which, according to the police report of the accident, sideswiped another automobile driven by Thomas W. Rogers of 3401 East Sixteenth street. The car overturned but the mother threw her arms about the girl and received the full force of the blow.

The girl escaped uninjured and the driver with only minor lacerations. Claude Heard, 16-year-old son of a prominent Alhambra market proprietor, was held for questioning yesterday by deputy sheriff following the death of Mrs. Frieda Schwichenberg, 63 of 908 North Wilson avenue, Alhambra. Mrs. Schwichenberg died in the Pasadena hospital of injuries received on July 12, last, when she was struck by a car driven by the youth as she was crossing Menocino street and North Lake avenue, according to the Sheriff's report. The lad was originally cited on a charge of reckless driving, which was dismissed, pending the outcome of the woman's injuries.

PANGBORN SCHEDULES NEW PLAY

"Expressing Willie" Will Include Popular Actor and Versatile Cast

The most noted and successful of Rachel Crothers' comedies, "Expressing Willie," has been selected for Franklin Pangborn's return to the Vine Street stage. Pangborn's return will follow immediately upon the closing of "The Jade God" at the Vine Street Theater. The popular young comedian has been devoting his energies exclusively to production activities during the past ten weeks and his presentation of "Expressing Willie" will mark the third successive time he has brought to Hollywood New York stage successes. No date for the closing of "The Jade God" or the opening of the famous Crothers comedy has yet been set. Rehearsals for the new production are to start this week under the direction of George Sherwood with the completion of the cast. Pangborn and Sherwood are again securing the stage talent of the West for a suitable cast and they announced that the popular actor, as in previous productions, would be supported by a stage aggregation of all-star quality. "Expressing Willie" recently closed an eight-month run at the Forty-eighth Street Theater in New York. It tells the story of a young toothpaste king with an estate on Long Island who is ashamed of his former sweetheart, Minnie, a music teacher. And it was to marry Minnie that the tooth-paste magnate left his home town to win success.

Maugham Story Screened Today At Paramount

One of W. Somerset Maugham's lightest and gayest plays, "Charming Sinners," first presented on the New York stage two years ago with Ethel Barrymore in the leading role and under the title of "The Constant Wife," has been made into an all-talking screen comedy and starts today at the Paramount. In contrast to the tragic note of such Maugham plays as "Rain," "Charming Sinners" is gay and concerns itself with marital loyalty in a mildly sophisticated but brilliant manner. Ruth Chatterton plays the role of the constant wife, and a woman quite capable of understanding and coping with an affair of the heart, which her husband blandly carries on with his best friend. It is a role made to order for Miss Chatterton and many consider it her best. Clive Brook portrays the wayward husband. William Powell is made to order for the part of the other man. Others in the cast are Mary Nolan, Montague Love, Laura Hope Crews and Florence Eldridge. Milton Charles heads the surrounding show at the Paramount this week with a new concert of popular tunes and songs. The first issue of the new Paramount Sound and Talking News makes its appearance at this time this week. A Jack White comedy will also be shown.

Warner Picture Features Many Outdoor Scenes

Some unusual and spectacular outdoor scenes are seen and heard in Warner Brothers' "Masquerader," now playing at Warner Brothers Theater. Adapted from the successful stage hit, "The Hotentot," the picture is a comedy and the thrilling action situation on and around a steeple-chase race track. All the colorful action of the throngs of spectators, horses racing over the dangerous water and hedge jumps, jockies coaxing their mounts to a higher speed, the thundering of horses' hoofs and other characteristics of a closely contested race, are seen and heard as well in this all-talking picture. There is an all-star cast in "The Hotentot," including Edward Everett Horton, Felix R. Hart, Edmund Gendine, Edward Earle, Stanley Taylor, Douglas Gerrard, Otto Hoffman and Maude Turner Gordon.

Actress Likes Happy Endings

Dale Winter believes that intelligent people like happy endings. "Gloom is not a matter of the intellect," asserts the actress, who is now costarring with Henry Duff in "The First Year" at the Capitol. "It is an emotion. Intelligent people banish gloom from their lives and see the optimistic side of things. That is why the happy ending in a play is really the right ending." Miss Winter believes that the average theatergoer likes the cheerful, wholesome plays. "Our present success with 'The First Year' is an indication," she says. "Frank Craven has written a buoyant and human comedy and that its spirit is as refreshing as when first written is shown by the appeal it possesses today." The cast of "The First Year" includes Florence Roberts, Lloyd Neal, Ray L. Royce, Olive Cooper, Ann Little and others.

LEON PAINTING FINISHED

John Decker, noted New York illustrator, put the finishing touches to his modern version of the "Beauty and the Beast" painting at Gay's Lion Farm, El Monte, yesterday, using Marie Romano, Pom Pom show girl, and Numa, veteran lion film star, as his subjects. News reels of this episode, directed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gay, proprietors of the farm, were filmed by Frank King, for Fox News, and by Bud Theodor, for Universal and Kingograms release. This painting will be featured in the forthcoming exhibit at Decker's Hollywood studio, after which it will be displayed at the Waldorf Gallery, in New York, and at the Regent Art Forum, in London.

Lady of Moods Returns

Portrays an ultra-modern character in "Single Standard," an M-G-M film, starting today at Low's State Theater.

ARTISTS SELECTS RICHMAN

Harry Richman, called the king of the night-club entertainers and songsters, has been secured by the United Artists Theater to act as master of ceremonies for the premiere of Ronald Colman's first talking picture, "Bulldog Drummond," Wednesday night. Colman will appear personally. Richman's appearance was arranged through the United Artists studio, to whom he is under contract for the making of the picture. "Bulldog Drummond" has been much in the public eye of late since his announced engagement to Clara Bow. He is said to rank as one of the few matinee idols that New York has worshipped in the past five years. He owned and conducted the fashionable Club Richman in Manhattan all last season and will return again in the fall. Studio officials, stars and directors have already reserved the major portion of the house, and the reserved tickets placed in the box office yesterday are going faster than on any similar occasion in the history of the theater, according to the management.

George Jessel Picked to Head New Late Show

Plans are rapidly nearing completion for the gala Fox studio night in conjunction with the regular billion-dollar mid-nite matinee at Grauman's Chinese Saturday night. Fox studio executives George Jessel, who is to act as master of ceremonies, announce that stars and featured players alike are enthusiastic in their co-operation to the end that the Fox night was first made the night of nights. The tentative program includes such names as George O'Brien, Sue Carol, Lois Moran, David Rollins, Jean Barry, Mary Duncan, Dixie Lee, Richard Keen and Stepin Fetchit. In addition to the above many stars of musical comedy hits are to appear. This list includes Tom Patric, Fred Astaire and others. When Fox studio night was first proposed the management of the Chinese issued a blanket invitation to all Fox players with the result that the problem now appears to be to find room on the program for all those who are volunteering their services.

Revival of Old Comedies Dream of Noted Actor

Our Bates Post, guest star with the Henry Duff Players at the Hollywood Playhouse in "The Masquerader," is ambitious to establish a repertory theater for the revival of old American comedies. "Only the student of the American theater can comprehend what joyous, fresh and spirited comedies were written in other days," says the noted actor. "It always has been the fate of the American dramatist to be looked down on by his foreign competitor. I should like to start with Royall Tyler's 'The Contrast,' written in 1771. The actor believes the proper place for such a repertory company is on the Pacific Coast. 'Audiences are more intelligent and appreciative here than elsewhere,' he says. 'They are not as jaded and they are more responsive to good plays and good acting.' Assisting the star in the presentation of 'The Masquerader' are Lillian Kemble Cooper, Lulu Mae Hubbard, Flora Bramley, Evelyn Eaton, James Durkin and others. DIX OPUS AT WESTLAKE "Presto Changeo," synchronized 'able, is proving vastly popular with Fox Westlake audiences, where it is being shown in conjunction with Douglas Fairbanks's latest production, "The Iron Mask." The current program has its last showings tonight, followed on Friday by "The Wheel of Life," an all-talking Paramount film starring Richard Dix, with Esther Ralston playing the feminine lead. Fox Movie News is offered on all programs. UPTOWN BILL CHANGES Uptown patrons will have their last opportunity to see and hear Warner Baxter and Lois Moran in "Behind That Curtain" tonight at the Fox Uptown. The production is an all-dialogue vehicle, adapted to the screen from Earl Derr Biggers' widely read story. Announcement is made that starting tomorrow, Clara Bow will be the Fox Uptown attraction in "Dangerous Curves," her newest talkie for Paramount.

MAE MURRAY BOOKED AT ORPHEUM

Perry Asham Makes Debut in Vaudeville; Surrounding Acts Versatile

Mae Murray, noted screen actress and dancer, was booked by the Orpheum Theater for a week's engagement at a late hour yesterday. Miss Murray will headline the variety bill starting Saturday, and will present a new repertoire. Appearing under Gus Edwards' direction, Perry Asham, late star of "The Desert Song," will make his vaudeville debut at the Orpheum. He will present a program of songs from his musical comedy successes. Other important Radio-Keith-Orpheum attractions announced are Karyl Norman, the "Creole Fashion Plate," in his latest song-style production; Fay Adler and Teddy Bradford, the former "Viper" dance stars featured recently in George M. Cohan's "Merry Melones," and Earl Carroll's "Vampires." Chase Chase, the former "Viper" comedian; Raymond Bond, tuner, with Helen Sullivan and company in "A Mad Mad Mad Mirthquake," and the Hill Billies, an aggregation of rustic entertainers recruited from the Ozark Mountain country.

Plot of Drama Centers Around Small Carving

A miniature jade carving from a Buddha temple, like a haunting echo from the vast, unprobed mysteries of the Orient, weaves a web of tortuous horror around the life of an elderly English housekeeper in "The Jade God," and the evil potency of the small carving is proving of fascinating interest to students of the East. The strange story of a Malay genius who breathes life into his carvings of jade and who modeled an image of his own soul to contain the evil of his nature, has drawn scores of occult devotees to the Vine Street. It is said. Whether the evil emanations of the eastern rite only exist in the morbid imagination of a woman or are actually a psychic power spreading misery and horror are questions which perhaps cannot be answered in the play. "The Jade God," which is being produced by Franklin Pangborn at the Vine Street concurrently with its New York run, has the advantage here of being interpreted by a cast of unusual quality. Headling the list is Margaret Wycherly, who created her present role in the run of the play in New York. Others are Theodor Von Eltz, Helen Ferguson, Rose E. Tapley, Theodore Lerch, Mildred Golden, George Rigas, Walter Downing and Cyr Forster.

Goossens Will Offer Modern Music Tonight

Modernism will run riot on tonight's program at Hollywood Bowl, when Eugene Goossens presents a program of compositions representing various phases of the new expressive school, which has abruptly abandoned the highways of classical for the uncharted roads of musical adventure. The program, unique in Bowl history, will be made still more novel by illuminating verbal comments on the offerings by the conductor. A third factor certain to enhance interest in the program to a further degree is the American premiere of the ballet music of "Judith," the conductor's first, which was produced for the first time at Covent Garden, London, last June. The composer-conductor himself is visiting the nation. A dance suite by Bela Bartok, foremost modern composer of Hungary, comes to a hearing for the first time locally, while modernistic musical France and Germany are represented respectively by Debussy and Schoenberg. The latter's music is declared to be the most eclectic of all. Cleverly cleaving to the modernist model, Prokofiev's "Classical Symphony," which opens the program, demonstrates that a modern can on occasion write in the manner and mood of the great masters of the classical era in music.

First Success Found at Home

Zoe Akins, who adapted "The Love Duel" from the Hungarian of Lili Hatvany for Ethel Barrymore, who now is appearing in this drama at the Mason Theater, achieved her first success in the theater in Los Angeles with a play called "Papa." Miss Akins had attracted the attention of the public with her poetry while she still was a girl, living in St. Louis. Julia Marlowe was one of her earliest admirers. Her poetry, which she considered it only very good second-rate poetry, was enthusiastic in her praise of Miss Akins's poems.

ARTISTS BOOKS NEW SCREEN OVERTURE

It was announced yesterday that Dr. Hugs Riesenfeld's first sound picture, "Reichow'sky's 1812 Overture," will have its premiere at the United Artists Theater Wednesday with the opening of "Bulldog Drummond." It marks the first of a series of twelve pictures that Dr. Riesenfeld is directing for the United Artists studio. The story gives Riesenfeld's impressions of Napoleon's disastrous entrance to Russia in 1812. FLAPPER FILM AT RITZ Irwin's latest story and one of his most "flapper" films, "The Flapper," Fox Films production featuring Sue Carol and Barry Norton, will show at the Fox Ritz Theater Friday and Saturday. In the supporting cast are such film notables as Irene Rich, Albert Conti, Sylvia Field and Lawrence Grant.
